TRUMAN PROGRAM HITS G.O.P. BARRIERS

WITNESS SAYS GENERAL DREW $1,000 A MONTH

President of Concern Also Declares Meyers Took Most of His $31,000 Pay.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Blerwin H. Lamarre, president of Aviation Electric Co., said today the Dayton, O. firm paid Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers a salary of $1,000 a month in 1941.

The 35-year-old executive testified before the senate war investigating committee.

The committee is inquiring into Meyers' relations with aircraft manufacturers while he was wartime deputy chief of air force procurement (purchasing). The general now is retired.

Lamarre testified yesterday that Aviation Electric was actually owned by Meyers, but that the general took steps to conceal this. He said Meyers took him from a $35 a week job and installed him as president of the concern, which received over a million dollars in war sub-contracts.

Lamarre said that of the $31,000 in salary which the firm's books showed as paid to him, he was allowed to keep $2,957.66. He said the remainder, once taxes were paid, was turned over to Meyers.

At the outset of today's session, Committee Counsel William Rogers led Lamarre back over his testimony of yesterday "to clear up certain points."

Checks Identified

Rogers put in the record—and Lamarre identified—eight checks for a total of $39,482.72, which Lamarre said represented the amount of loans repaid in 1940-41 to Meyers.

The checks showed payments of $3,500, $2,000, $3,575.23, $5,000, $5,000, $10,000, $5,000 and $5,407.49.

As the piece meal story of the firm's financial affairs came out, Lamarre testified:

On the general's instructions, he charged to himself $1,000 a month for travel and entertainment.

Lamarre said he protested to Meyers that he never would be able to justify the travel-entertainment item, but that the general told him to do it anyway.

"I didn't know enough people in the country to entertain," Lamarre declared.

He also said that $10,000 in funds of Aviation Electric company were withdrawn in 1941 to pay for decoration of Meyers' Washington apartment.

Lamarre said the $10,000 was charged on the firm's books to "selling expenses" but was actually paid to Neta Davis who he said was an interior decorator.

More Checks Identified

His testimony was interrupted at that point and Miss Neta Winston Davis, the decorator, was called to the witness chair. She identified cancelled checks aggregating $10,000 which she had endorsed.

Lamarre said that when accountants disallowed the $10,000 apartment decorating item this was charged as part of Lamarre's salary. (Presumably he referred to tax accountants, but this point was not developed.)

Carmine Bellino, a committee investigator, testified that of the $39,482.72 paid to Meyers in 1940-41 to cancel loans, $1,172.48 was interest.

"Did that wipe out the indebtedness to General Meyers?" Rogers asked.

Lamarre said it did.

Bellino said the company's books showed $6,000 charged to entertainment and travel in 1941.

Summarizing these accounts, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee conducting the investigation, said they were "padded" and that the "padding" went to Meyers.

Lamarre agreed.

Lamarre said the company carried on its books a separate item known as "executive salary" covering the $1,000 a month that went to Meyers.

Salary for Meyers

"As I recall it," Lamarre told the committee, "he (Meyers) said to pay myself a weekly salary. Then there also was to be a large salary payable monthly to General Meyers."

This latter item, Lamarre said, was shown at $12,000 on the company's 1941 books.

As for the $1,000 a month La-

Delaware Dam Construction Near Completion

Within a month engineers are expected to place final touches on the gigantic Delaware dam, whose backwaters will penetrate well into the southeastern areas of Marion county.

Construction engineers expect to complete the huge concrete and steel structure by Dec. 16, more than a year and a half after ground was broken at the site. Installation of power units and other electrical work may extend the actual completion of the dam until February, according to A. A. Johnson, federal resident engineer.

Following completion of the dam and the huge earthen dikes, clearing of trees from the reservoir bottom may extend well into next year. Actual impounding of water behind the dam may not occur until late in 1948.

Work on the project to control the waters of the Olentangy river started April 1, 1946. Former Governor Frank J. Lausche turned the first spadeful of earth on that date at the site located approximately four miles north of Delaware where the stream winds through rolling terrain.

Work Day and Night

Since that date, four contracting firms have been busy day and night pouring thousands of tons of concrete, riveting huge girders and moving nearly two million tons of earth and stone to erect a dam that engineers say will hold back a maximum of nearly 43 billion gallons of water.

When wet weather upset the time schedule for construction, floodlights were installed so that the bulldozers, cranes and the concrete mixing plant could operate on a round-the-clock basis. The site swarmed with several hundred workmen changing the face of the land for acres in all directions.

The enterprise with its four separate construction firms took on the aspect of a small community. Engineers' field offices, tool-houses, equipment sheds and stockpiles were scattered over the site. A concessionaire erected a canteen on the grounds where hot food and drink could be secured by workmen at all hours.

In the rush against time, injuries to personnel were numerous. The flood control project aimed at preventing a recurrence of the disastrous rampage of the Olentangy as occurred in 1913, has already cost the life of one construction worker who was killed when a gate fell upon him while he was working on the dam.

The dam is 18,600 feet long and rises 90 feet in height, the top elevation of the dam being 947 feet above sea level. Engineers had to drop footings 15 feet into solid rock to anchor the dam structure itself. More than 290 tons of steel, 134,000 tons of concrete and 1,900,000 tons of earth went into the dam and its dikes on either side.

On the dam, six huge steel crestgates each 32 feet wide by 25 feet high will control the water flow. They weigh a total of 250,0000 pounds. Steel girders used in the dam came from Marion and were furnished by the Pollak Steel Co. The floodgates will be operated from a small control house located on the west side of the dam. A walk 15 feet wide will go across the top of the dam above the crest gates.

The earthen dike extends nearly two miles east from the dam and more than a mile west and north. It extends west to Route 23 in a sweeping curve then parallels the highway for about a third of a mile before crossing over to continue westward. Plans under consideration now by engineers would raise route 23 at this point to pass over the dike.

Route 23 Problem

The reservoir area, which roughly parallels Route 23 as far north as several miles above Waldo, at several places will cross the highway where small runs empty into the Olentangy from the west. Waldo itself lies in the path of the backed-up waters, as does Norton several miles to the south. Final decision on what to do with route 23 at these spots is still pending between the state and federal engineering staffs.

Those expecting to see a huge lake once the gates are closed on the waters of the Olentangy will NEILLSVILLE, Wis., Nov. 18—Two youthful ex-convicts were in jail today after surrendering to law enforcement officers to whom they related, apparently without remorse, their weekend orgy of killing and rape and their frantic attempt to evade capture.

The three-day pursuit of the young desperadoes by Wisconsin law enforcement officials ended yesterday when they surrendered to a sheriffe's posse after a 12-hour siege at an isolated farm near this small north central Wisconsin community.

William Coyne, assistant district attorney of Dane county (Madison), said the two former Wisconsin reformatory inmates, Robert Winslow, 23, and Buford Sennett, 22, would be brought to Madison today. He said they would be charged with first de-

PALESTINE PLAN GETS SUBCOMMITTEE OK

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 18—A United Nations subcommittee last night accepted the major parts of a plan to enforce the proposed partition of Palestine and cleared the way for early vote on the split-up of the Holy Land.

The nine-nation subcommittee unanimously approved most of the new plan, based on U. S.-Soviet compromises. Still remaining for discussion are provisions on immigration.

When completely accepted, the proposal will go to the 57-nation Palestine committee and the assembly itself for final voting.

The subcommittee selected Norway, Iceland, Poland, Uruguay and Guatemala as a special UN commission to administer Palestine during a transition period between the end of the British mandate and the independence date.

The plan calls for the end of the mandate not later than next Aug. 1, with all British troops to be out by then. Independence for the two new countries would come no later than Oct. 1, 1948.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain made no comment on the plan and said it had been referred to London for study.

RESULTS OF TARIFF SLASHES AWAITED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The government hoped today its wholesale tariff slashes set for Jan. 1 will save Americans money without arousing a storm among industries left with less protection against foreign competition.

Under terms of the Geneva trade and tariff agreement made public last night, this country will make more than 3,500 cuts in import duties as part of a 23-nation pact affecting half the world's commerce.

"The general effect should be to ease the burden on the consumer —we hope for a substantial benefit," said one state department official commenting on prospects for lower prices.

At least one such result—a drop of 30 cents a "fifth" bottle in the retail price of Scotch and Canadian whisky—was forecast by the National Association of Alcoholic Beverage Importers.

But officials said that, in general, the effect on prices and on volume of imports will be slow to come, since few foreign countries are producing enough goods to ship them overseas.

Also, many of the thousands of foreign tariff cuts, which should widen the door for American exports, will be nullified for a time by other types of control, such as exchange "currency" restrictions and restrictive import quotas.

Many European and other nations will continue the quotas, officials said, in order to keep out their dwindling supplies of dollars unessential goods and conserve

PREMIER HOLDS FIRM AS RIOTS GAIN IN ITALY

De Gasperi Calls for Peace To Assure Financial Assistance from U. S.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Nov. 18—Political disorders spread to new areas of Italy today despite a declaration by Premier Alcide De Gasperi that rioting, "with forecasts of revolution" would not sway him from his present middle-of-the-road course.

De Gasperi, speaking before the national congress of his Christian Democratic party last night in Naples, made a direct appeal to the Communists to stop their clamoring so that Italy could be assured of financial help from the United States.

Even as he spoke, however, his government ordered "a strong column of motorized carabinieri and public security police" into the southeastern province of Puglia to put down new disorders and political "agitation" raging in several towns there, the news agency ANSA reported.

Wreck Opposition Office

At Corato and at Dolo demonstrators wrecked the offices of the Rightist Uomo Qualunque (Common Man) movement, thus carrying out the pattern of demonstrations the length and breadth of Italy last week. At Manfredonia, nearly 2,000 demonstrators tore up the offices of the Christian Democratic, Liberal and Common Man parties.

At the towns of Andria, Minervino, Barletta and Trani, Ansa said, the political demonstrators erected roadblocks to bar entry and exit.

Such disorders in Italy's public squares, De Gasperi declared in Naples, "will not make me desert the position confided to me and confirmed by the loyalty of the Italian people."

"It is necessary that the American congress should vote the contributions which the American government has proposed for the aid of Italy and France," he said. "But we must give the impression the country is tranquil, because to people in continual convulsions no one is disposed to give credits."

De Gasperi said the wave of leftist disorders in Italy was an attempt to "create in the country such agitation and such a succession of acts of violence that they (the leftists) could leap all barricades of democracy to the conquest of power."

New Strike Wave Threatens in France

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 18—France's labor pot boiled over again today, tieing up or threatening wide sections of nationalized industry as the center parties negotiated formation of a strong government to meet the crisis.

These were the labor events:

1. Seventy-two per cent of the country's 114,000 coal miners were on strike, with the rest expected to follow later in the day.

2. The 25,000 employes of the nationalized Renault auto concern stopped work.

3. Merchant marine union locals debated calling their second strike in a month. The merchant marine likewise is nationalized.

4. The federation of all unions in the Paris region threatened a general strike.

5. The civil servants union called a strike for Friday if their demands are not met.

All have demanded 25 per cent salary advances pending negotiations for raises.

On the political front, former Premier Paul Reynaud continued the conversations he began yesterday with various political leaders in an effort to set up a working majority in the national assembly which would permit formation of a strong government to succeed the Socialist led cabinet of Premier Paul Ramadier.

Insurance Premium Increase Predicted

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — A state insurance superintendent, spokesman said today the division expects an announcement of increases in premiums on new policies momentarily.

Walter A. Robinson, deputy state insurance superintendent, said no specific increase has been mentioned, "but it probably will not be as high as 10 per cent."

The increase, if there is one, will affect only new business, and leave present minimums unchanged, Robinson said.

He gave declining rates of interest on insurance company investments and the general increase in the cost of doing business as reason for the probable premium boosts.

Program Applauded In Western Europe

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 18—Western Europe acclaimed generally today President Truman's request for broad powers to speed world recovery, but tempered the plaudits with a note of caution that the aid-in-dollars and authority—will be measured out by congress.

In Italy, Rome's independent Messagero applauded the chief executive's "generous disposition," said he was "fighting a good battle in our favor before congress" and warned leftist group that "violent actions" may cut American aid.

With almost a single voice, the British press commended the message as a major step in the Marshall plan for Europe's recovery.

The Irish Times of Dublin praised the President's "downright words and warnings," and added:

"The world, let it be repeated, is one world. Every nation must fight for its own life but it cannot hope to survive struggle if it tries to fight alone."

In Paris all but two of the 23 daily newspapers gave wide play to President Truman's call for $597,000,000 emergency aid for France, Italy and Austria.

Truman's speech was ignored by the Communist dailies L'Humanite and Ce Soir.

ARMY PLANE HITS MOUNTAIN; 6 DIE

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Ark., Nov. 18—Six unidentified Army fliers were killed last night when an Army bomber crashed into towering Mt. Magazine near here, exploded and burned during a rainstorm.

Five bodies, three of them badly charred, were found soon after the crash and later Arkansas state police reported finding a sixth.

Sheriff Earl Ladd of Yell county said the plane was a B-25, and headquarters at Barksdale Field, La., declared an unconfirmed report had been received there that the plane was a B-25 enroute to the field from Chicago.

Havana is about 75 miles northwest of Little Rock and 50 miles southeast of Fort Smith, Ark. Mt. Magazine is Arkansas' tallest mountain.

TAFT CLASSES IT AS POLICE STATE SYSTEM

Ceilings, Rationing Proposals Assailed; Some Say President "Playing Politics."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Republican congressional leaders banged the door shut today against President Truman's emergency request for wage-price ceilings and rationing of scarce food and clothing. Some tartly charged him with playing politics in his anti-inflation message to congress.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R) of Ohio, commander of the G.O.P. opposition, in a radio address last night said the proposed controls would choke production and paralyze private initiative here. He accused the President of resorting to police state methods. Under the Truman control we would have none or little surplus for European aid, Mr. Taft argued.

"We stand at the crossroads today between a free America and a planned economy," Mr. Taft said, charging Mr. Truman with trying to sugar coat his planning program.

"He wants price controls against the producer," Mr. Taft continued, "wage controls against the working man, rationing against the housewife and the restaurant, every kind of control over the businessman. This is OPA. This is the police state condemned by the President himself only a month ago. This is the end to economic freedom."

Substitute Proposed

Mr. Taft proposed to substitute for the Truman anti-inflation plan the following:

▶Reduce government expenditures.

▶Reduce taxes.

▶Limit exports.

▶Substantially reduce Marshall plan appropriations for European aid.

▶Control expansion of private credit.

On exports and private credit control Mr. Taft and Mr. Truman do not seem far apart but on all other points they hit head-on. Congressional Republicans substantially lined up with Mr. Taft although some freshman senators have been playing with the idea of rationing without other controls. Thus the presidential campaign battle of 1948 has begun on the cost of living front.

Scant Approval by Business

Mr. Truman found little or no support among business spokesmen for his anti-inflation program. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said more and more production was the solution to European aid and high prices at home—"and we won't get that production if we tie our own hands with a renewal of government controls." The National Association of Manufacturers voiced similar sentiment.

Leaders of organized labor withheld immediate comment. Many labor leaders, especially in the CIO, have been demanding a return to price control and rationing. But Mr. Truman went beyond that to propose wage control—something labor does not like.

AFL President William Green was scheduled to present his reaction to the President's program in a speech tonight. CIO President Philip Murray promised a statement as soon as he completed a study of Mr. Truman's proposals.

No Chance, Say Republicans

In congress, Republican leaders said on and off the record that wage-price-rationing controls had no chance at this session. They hinted Mr. Truman was well aware that his program went far beyond any likelihood of enactment and that it was sent to congress in part for political effect.

But Republicans privately conceded the President had caught them off balance with his surprise request for almost all-out return to war-time regulation. For the moment, at least, the President has the political advantage. The Republicans are groping for a substitute program with vote-appeal.

Some G.O.P. leaders believe the President's request for controls of domestic economy has jeopardized the long range Marshall plan to aid Europe. If such controls are necessary to enable the United States to find $16,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 to aid Europe, some Republicans would favor drastically reducing the extent of aid to assure avoidance of rationing and wage-price ceilings.

CHANGE IN ELECTION OF JUDGES PROPOSED

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18 — The council of delegates of the Ohio State Bar association meeting here Friday will consider a resolution calling for a complete change in Ohio's judicial system to provide for elimination of the present plan of electing judges.

No particular plan was advocated in the resolution which merely called for the appointment of a statewide committee to study the various plans and determine which method of appointment of judges would be most suitable for Ohio.

Two other major changes in judicial policies in the state will be proposed at the meeting of the association Friday. The group was expected to approve a resolution rejecting a proposal by the national association of women lawyers for uniform divorce laws for all states, bar officials said.

The lawyers proposed adoption of a resolution recommending relaxation of the bans now barring testimony of a physician, attorney, husband or wife, so that in cases where one of the parties in relationship testifies, the other may be required to do so.

The resolution applies to the present relationship of physician-patient, attorney-client, and husband-wife privileges before law courts.

PATROLMAN SPEAKS AT LIONS MEETING

Col. T. B. Morgan Addresses Luncheon Club.

Cpl. T. B. Morgan of the local station of the Ohio State Highway Patrol explained the duties of the patrol in this district and the authority which the patrol members have to members of the Lions club in their weekly luncheon meeting program Monday at Hotel Harding.

He explained that the patrol has more authority now, as the laws were changed Sept. 21 of this year, and that a man out of uniform, belonging to the plain clothes division, has just as much authority as a patrolman in uniform. Cpl. Morgan stated that there are 302 men at the 36 stations in Ohio, and the headquarters of the local division is at Findlay. He also explained that all stations are radio equipped. The patrol is known as having the best radio equipment in the United States, he said.

Plans were discussed for the Lions bazaar to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, and reports on preparations were given by W. P. Applegett and John Peacock.

FIRE IN AUTO

An engine spark and a flooded carburetor were blamed for starting a fire in a car owned by William Neil of 139 Plymouth street at 8:50 a. m. today. Damage to the car amounted to $25, Fire Chief Sifritt said. The blaze was put out by firemen from central station. The car was at the corner of Plymouth and West Center streets.

No great damage resulted to the home of Alfred Hopkins, 736 Kentucky avenue, when his chimney burned out at 6:33 p. m. yesterday, but paper near the flue began to smoulder as a result. Firemen from Central station answered the call.

REVEALS OLD CRIME—The recent arrest of Henry Mueller (above), 46, on a minor charge in Chicago is reported to have led to the revelation of an old killing. Identified through a fingerprint check, Mueller told of being robbed in 1909, when he was 8, and of slaying the bandit 10 years later in San Jose, Calif., allegedly in "self defense." He said he escaped to Chicago and went into the junk business. Mueller has a wife and five children.

Three Auto Accidents Reported to Police

Three accidents were reported to police Monday. Richard L. Hamilton, 24, of Adams street reported that at 12:55 p. m. he was driving north on South Prospect and while stopping for the traffic light at the Center Street intersection, a second car struck his car in the rear. Driver of the second car which had a damaged grill, was unidentified. The Hamilton car was undamaged.

At 5:30 p. m., Howard Orr of 452 West Columbia street reported his car parked in front of his home had been struck by an unidentified car. Orr reported his car had been knocked over the curb, the left rear end damaged including a broken tail light and license plate bracket.

BASEBALL OFFICIAL MEN'S CLUB SPEAKER

Robert L. Finch of Columbus on Presbyterian Program.

Using the familiar baseball term "the full count" as his theme, Robert L. Finch of Columbus, assistant secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Players, spoke to the Presbyterian Men's club at its monthly meeting in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church last night.

The "full count" in baseball as explained by Finch is the crucial situation that exists when a batter at the plate has three-ball, two-strike count on him with the next pitch deciding whether he or the pitcher will be the winner.

Mr. Finch compared baseball's full count with the present situation in national and international affairs, declaring that the next action will decide whether there will be war or peace in the world.

Going into the various phases of the crucial situation, he said he was convinced the only ultimate solution to all world troubles must come through religion.

Preceding his talk on world social, economic and governmental affairs, he related amusing incidents connected with his experiences in baseball.

His talk followed a dinner at 6:30 served by the General Aid society of the church with Mrs. A. F. Lantzer and Mrs. H. E. Shackelford of circle No. 3 in charge.

It was announced that the club is sponsoring Men's day at the church next Sunday. Virtually all the club members will attend the morning services, it was reported.

About 150 attended the meeting.

marre was to charge to himself for travel and entertainment, the witness said Meyers told him he should have no trouble substantiating it.

Lamarre added that Meyers told him to charge some to travel to the west coast and to "set up some for entertainment."

"I told him I did not think I could do it, but I would try," Lamarre said.

He added that he did try, but never was able to make the accounts "look logical."

"I would have had to travel all the time," Lamarre declared, "and I didn't know enough people in the country to entertain."

Lamarre spent more than two hours behind closed doors with committee officials yesterday after testifying that Meyers owned nearly all the stock of Aviation Electric, but took steps to conceal this.

Lamarre also told the committee that while he as President was down on the company's books as having received a $31,000 salary in 1941, he actually got only about $3,000. He said the difference—$28,000—went to Meyers.

In addition to this amount, Lamarre related, the general was paid $30,000 to clear a loan Meyers made to the company.

The young executive, whose wife once was Meyers' secretary, testified also that the general instructed him to hike from $11 to $44.58 the price of electrical fuse boxes which the company supplied to the Bell Aircraft Corp. for war planes.

Let's Keep America "In Business!"

THE continued success of American business depends on adequate, dependable railroad transportation to keep manufacturers supplied and their finished goods flowing to consumers.

The future growth of American business depends on the ability of the railroads to match that growth with expanded service and facilities.

To do this, the railroads must depend on earnings. But even with the recent 10% emergency freight rate increase—even though more freight is being carried than ever before in peacetime, the railroads expect to earn only about 3% on their property investment in 1947*.

*Based on Net Railway Operating Income, before bond interest and dividends.

Here is why

Since 1939 payrolls are up more than 68.7%
Costs of supplies and materials are up 87.7%
Freight rate increases average only 28.0%

Everyone agrees that 6% is the minimum return needed by any business to exist and grow as a free enterprise. The railroads are asking for the opportunity to earn that 6%, the better to serve all America.

Teacher Pay System Bared on Dependents

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — School teachers in nearby Upper Arlington were notified today that each dependent up to three will mean $200 extra in their annual salary.

School Superintendent O. E. Hill said the novel pay scale, becoming effective Jan. 1, was designed to "encourage teacher participation in the community and to attract and hold the very best prepared teachers."

The starting base pay was set at $2,200 and the maximum basic salary at $4,000. A teacher with a wife and two children will receive an additional $600 a year. A dependent is defined, for purposes of the schedule, as a husband or wife, a child, or a dependent parent. Only one dependent parent will be recognized.

Hill estimated the new pay system will add $30,000 to the current payroll. It will be financed out of a two-mill levy approved at the last election.

Speaking at the 121st annual meeting of the B. & O.'s stockholders, White said present net earnings of the company, as well as of railroads in general are too low to attract the capital required for such an outlay.

MAN WHO FAKED SUICIDE INDICTED AT COLUMBUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—Harold Huffman, 47, whose faked suicide led Zanesville officials to drag ice-clogged Muskingum river last February, was under indictment today on a forgery charge.

Huffman, president of a small Columbus air conditioning firm, was charged by a Franklin county grand jury in the forging of a $536 check. The indictment sets out Huffman allegedly forged the check on a Cambridge, O., bank, payable to his company and then, after depositing it in a local bank, withdrew the money.

He was arrested last month in Washington, Pa. Police said he admitted leaving his hat and coat on the "Y" bridge at Zanesville and mailing a note to his wife that "this is the best way out."

BIG FARM AID SEEN IN NEW WEED KILLER

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—Use of the chemical agent known as 2 4 D to kill weeds before they sprout "is the most progressive agricultural development since hibrid corn," says Dr. G. H. Ahlbren, who is professor of farm crops at Rutgers university, New Brunswick, N. J.

Addressing the American Society of Agronomy here yesterday, he added that New Jersey experiments showed "good promise" that the chemical could eliminate all but five per cent of the work farmers now must do in cultivating corn.

In successful experiments, Dr. Ahlbren explained, 2 4 D was sprayed on the soil six days after the corn was planted and the chemical went into the soil far enough to kill weed seeds but not deep enough to harm the corn seedlings.

He said "the main disadvantage to the chemical comes when a farmer is farming light or sandy soil," and added:

"Our experiments have proved successful only on heavy soil which stops the chemical's penetration. When we applied it on light soil it sank almost immediately to the corn seedlings and killed them along with the weeds."

But he listed these advantages: use of the chemical is inexpensive, only $2 to the acre can be applied quickly and easily, and "eliminates the necessity of a farmer running heavy equipment over his land time and time again."

FARM BUREAU DIRECTORS PLAN ANNUAL MEETING

At a meeting of the Marion County Farm Bureau board of directors Monday night at the Farm Bureau office, final arrangements were made for the annual meeting at the Pleasant Township school tonight. Robert Eisele presided.

Discussion was held on the membership drive set for Jan. 7 and 8, with reports of membership team captains to be made Jan. 9, and plans for carrying out this drive were approved. A tour of inspection of Farm Bureau facilities at Columbus and visit to the grain terminal there, scheduled for Dec. 8, were considered.

It was voted to contribute to the 4-H club foundation drive which is under way in the county, and money was voted for the purpose of sending a delegation of young people to the American Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Chicago Dec. 14.

Trying Them On for Size

THE meanest trick the Republican majority in congress could play on President Truman would be to accept his proposal for returning the national economy to a wartime basis Politicians learned in the 1946 election how unpopular rationing, price controls and wage controls were in peacetime. Mr. Truman himself was among those who couldn't abandon them fast enough to suit him.

But it is unlikely that any such thing will happen.

Republicans themselves won't all see eye to eye on a program of legislation. There will be a division between diverse points of view on the issue of a planned versus a free economy, as there has been on such questions in congress ever since the New Deal dramatized the issue. Many members of Mr. Truman's own party can be counted on to lead the opposition to his request for a revival of wartime powers

The request can be supported only on a basis of necessity which the President tries to fabricate out of the probable circumstances of European relief under the Marshall plan. But those circumstances have not yet been determined. They are not likely to be determined for several months. For the present, therefore, what Mr. Truman has to say about inflation control is merely a presidential prospectus of what lies ahead if the Marshall plan is authorized The United States would be called upon to abandon the free enterprise principle in critical areas at home in the effort to save what is left of the free enterprise principle abroad.

We do not believe the United States wants rationing, price control or wage control. We do not believe the Republican party will favor these rejected techniques, and it is obvious the Democratic party doesn't favor them sufficiently to make any difference in congress. President Truman's lame explanation that he wants such extraordinary powers at this time only to try them for size, with a view to using them later if necessary, isn't persuasive at all. He is asking the American people to tell congress to turn back the clock to the end of World War II. The people already have told congress they were unwilling to stop the clock at that point.

There will be no serious quarrel in congress, if it reflects the people's judgment, over assistance for Europe. The principle is agreed on. But two momentous matters of practice must be threshed out.

The assistance must be given on terms consistent with the freedom Americans are trying to save by gambling with their wealth; there must be no encouragement or help for dictatorship, state capitalism and nationalized cartels. Neither must there be assistance beyond the power of the United States to give within the limits of its capacity as a free economy. This country would be as foolish as its enemies sometimes have accused it of being if it scuttled its freedom at home trying to save freedom abroad.

Fed Up and Browned Off

PARTITION of Palestine will have to be effected without the aid of British troops, the British UN delegation has told the assembly. The British are clearing out of the Holy Land by next Aug. 1 and will not be prepared to enforce any UN mandate.

This bodes ill for the success of the American-Russian compromise tentatively agreed on last week, which calls for Britain to continue its responsibility while the two states are established. That the United States and Russia reached an accord on anything of importance is unusual. Somewhat less surprising is the attitude of the British who are fed up and browned off with their Palestine responsibility and want to be rid of it as soon as possible.

The British assumed the Palestine mandate after World War I because it gave them a base for protection of the Suez approaches. They made a promise to the Jews and promises to the Arabs—promises at odds with each other and impossible of fulfillment, as the last 30 years have proved.

Weary of their onerous Palestine assignment, the British are ready to step out and leave the land to whoever has the strength to hold it. This is what will happen unless the UN can find another standing army to move in and enforce its decision—a doubtful prospect.

Down to Business

THE senate war contracts hearings are taking a trend that proves the value of congressional inquiries The committee is eliciting facts rather than opinions, testimony rather than heated oral exchanges.

There is a place for congressional investigations, some of which have turned up data used in shaping new legislations. Others have brought out instances of wrongdoing which eventually were dealt with by the courts. After a shaky start, the war contracts committee has stopped running a floor show. It is bringing to light facts that should be known.

A battleship of the Iowa class uses 1,800,000 feet of electrical cable, and as much as 400,000,000 feet of finely woven galvanized steel wire is used to protect these cables.

Millions of sea birds have been victims of oil dumped on the water by ships; the oil-film on feathers making it impossible for the birds to rise from the water.

The Great of Then and Now

By George E. Sokolsky

Family Names Passing from U. S. Business Scene.

B. C. FORBES, who pursues the fish, the golf-ball and the poker-chip, and tells fantastic stories of Scottish virtues, also publishes a business magazine. And recently, he broke his Scotch heart—and probably his purse—by inviting a multitude of good friends to a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria to celebrate the thirtieth year of his publication.

Thirty years ago, Forbes made a survey, by various means, of the 59 foremost business leaders of the day. They were:

SOKOLSKY

John D. Archbold, J. Ogden Armour, George F. Baker, A. C. Bedford, Alexander Graham Bell, Andrew Carnegie, H. P. Davison, Robert Dollar, W. L. Douglas, James B. Duke, T. Coleman DuPont, George Eastman, Thomas A. Edison, James A. Farrell, Henry Ford, James B. Forgan, Henry C. Frick, Elbert H. Gary, William A. Gaston, George W. Gorthals, Daniel Guggenheim, John Hays Hammond, August Heckscher, A Barton Hepburn, Samuel Insull, Otto H. Kahn, Minor C. Keith, Darwin P. Kingsley, Cyrus H. McCormick, J. P. Morgan, William H. Nichols, John H. Patterson, George W. Perkins, George M. Reynolds, John D Rockefeller, Julius Rosenwald, John D. Ryan, Jacob H. Schiff, Charles M. Schwab, John G. Shedd, E. C. Simmons, James Speyer, James Stillman, Theodore N. Vail, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Frank A. Vanderlip, Paul M. Warburg, John N Willys, Thomas E Wilson, F. W. Woolworth.

Repeats

He did the same this year and the following list was chosen by their colleagues:

Winthrop W. Aldrich, Stanley C. Allyn, John D. Biggers, Lewis H. Brown, Walter S. Carpenter Jr., Martin W. Clement, John L. Collyer, C. Donald Dallas, Richard R. Deupree, Donald W. Douglas, Willard H. Dow, Benjamin F. Fairless, Harvey S. Firestone Jr., Henry Ford II, Clarence Francis, L. M. Giannini, Walter S. Gifford, Bernard F. Gimbel, Samuel Goldwyn, Eugene G. Grace, Paul G. Hoffman, Eugene Holman, Charles R. Hook, Eric Johnston, W. Alton Jones, Henry J. Kaiser, K. T. Keller, James F. Lincoln, LeRoy A. Lincoln, Henry R. Luce, Charles Luckman, Glenn L. Martin, Thomas W. Martin, Richard K. Mellon, Charles E. Merrill, Fowler McCormick, Ernest E. Norris, Edgar Monsanto Queeny, James H. Rand Jr., Gordon S. Rentschler, Edward V. Rickenbacker, Nelson A. Rockefeller, David Sarnoff, Emil Schram, Thomas J. Watson, Charles E. Wilson (G.E.), Charles E. Wilson (G. M.), General Robert E. Wood, Robert W. Woodruff, Robert R. Young.

There is a whale of a difference between the two lists which tells a good deal about this country, most of the men, on the 1917 list, were still pioneers. Rugged individualists, who had built the businesses they headed. Most of the men in the 1947 list are managerial bureaucrats who had been chosen to head established organizations. In 1917, businesses were still run by families or close associates of the original founders; in 1947, even such companies as the DuPonts, J. P. Morgan, Eastman Kodak, Woolworth's are run by hired management. The family business is disappearing.

Started At Boston

In 1917, few of the top men had had a college education; most of them seem to have started as store clerks of one kind or another. In the 1947 list, nearly everyone went to college or its equivalent. It is an interesting shift of emphasis.

In the 1917 list, fruit and meat packing are given representation; in the 1947 list, packaged foods, breakfast cereals and Coca-Cola come to the top. In 1917, soap does not show; in 1947, it appears twice. Thirty years ago, automobiles are represented by Henry Ford and John N. Willys; this year there is Henry Ford II, Paul G. Hoffman, K. T. Keller, C. E. Wilson (G.M.) and aviation produces Donald W. Douglas, Glenn L. Martin, and Eddie Rickenbacker.

Quite a fuss was made at this dinner of the three "rich men's sons" who made the list, Henry Ford II, Harvey Firestone Jr., and Nelson Rockefeller. It seemed to me senseless. In the history of business, it used to be usual for the son to succeed the father for many generations it was not startling that a competent father trained a competent son. Maybe the astonishment that three out of 50 were sons of such fathers reflected the assumption of the passing generation that the one at its heels is not good for much. Maybe it is education that does it.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

Cause or Effect?

The census bureau, revealing a continuing decline in the size of the average family, blames the nation's soaring divorce rate.

As characteristic with bureaucrats, they got the cart before the cause.

It's the decline in family size, I mean, which has led to the SRO sign at Reno.

A man with a big family to feed, I mean, is going to have his nose too close to the grindstone to look at other women.

And a wman with a covey of kids is going to think more than once before taking the night train home to Momma.

More big families would mean fewer divorces, instead of vice versa. Couples with eight or ten children to look after don't have time to stay mad.

Yes sir, the rising divorce rate doesn't mean people are more incompatible than formerly. It's just that they've fewer offsprings in common.

The Reuther Victory

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

IT IS difficult to overestimate the real meaning of Walter Reuther's overwhelming victory at the United Automobile Workers' convention in Atlantic City last week. For the Communists have lost their last chance to dominate or deeply influence an important segment of the American labor movement. In so doing, they have lost their last chance to dominate or deeply influence the whole American political left. For without a solid, unassailable base in the labor movement, the Communists are reduced to comparative political impotence. And this in turn will have a profound impact on the national political scene.

Only two or three months ago, there existed a serious possibility that the Communists might extend their influence to unions to represent about half the membership of the entire CIO. Yet with Curran's recent victory in the martime workers, and Reuther's success last week, the whole Communist position in the CIO is threatened.

ALSOP

It is threatened, for example, in national CIO headquarters. The hand of CIO President Philip Murray, who detests the Communists, but who has hesitated to move against them for fear of splitting his beloved CIO from top to bottom, is strengthened. So is the hand of James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, and Reuther's chief ally at national headquarters. And the position of CIO counsel Lee Pressman, the Communists' friend at court, has thus become exceedingly precarious Reuther has never troubled to conceal his sentiments towards Pressman. One close observer of the CIO has remarked that it would surprise him if Pressman lasted three months.

Effect on PAC

The CIO-PAC, the CIO's political instrumentality, which has always had a distinct Communist flavor, will also feel the impact of Reuther's victory. R. J. Thomas, the bumbling former president of the UAW, who has consistently accepted Communist support, has been treasurer of the PAC. Reuther is now expected to replace him. There is no doubt that he will firmly squash the PAC's sprinkling of Communists.

Again, Communist control of the biggest Communist trade union base, the United Electrical Workers, is seriously undermined. Carey, former UAW president and leader of a movement to oust its Communist officers, will receive support from Reuther. Moreover, Philip Murray's steelworkers are expected soon to follow the UAW lead in signing under protest the non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley law. This will leave the electrical workers as the only major CIO union without recourse to the national labor relations board, since a number of its officers could not sign the affidavits without risking perjury charges.

Thus the electrical workers will be subject to raids both from the AFL's machinists and from the steel and auto workers. It seems unlikely that the vast majority of non-Communists in the electrical workers' rank and file will long agree to pay such a price for the luxury of maintaining Communist officers. And if the Communists lose the electrical workers, they lose their last great labor base.

General Overturning

Thus the whole internal balance of power in the CIO has been overturned and will be overturned still further. The impact of this overturn on the national political scene is made obvious if one recalls the speech made by Henry Wallace before the electrical workers' convention in Boston last September. Carey's attempt to displace the Communists leadership of his old union had been swamped by the powerful Communist machine. Wallace proceeded to devote much of his speech to the horrors of "red-baiting," and congratulated the union on not allowing itself to be disrupted by such "false issues" as Carey had raised Wallace thus placed himself squarely and unequivocally in the CIO's minority pro-Communist camp.

The overwhelming rank-and-file support for Walter Reuther has now threatened the very existence of that camp, and has clearly repudiated Henry Wallace's strategy of a "united Front" with the Communists. Thus Reuther's victory is the greatest setback which the third party movement, sparkplugged by the Communists, has yet received. Reuther's enemies in the UAW, now sunk without trace, having consistently flirted with the Progressive Citizens of America, the party-line, third-party organization which has provided Wallace with his main platform.

DEFINITE SWING

Red Riots May Be Premature

By Walter Lippmann

THE question of what the Kremlin and its Cominform hope to accomplish by ordering the French and Italian Communists to resort to violence is rather like the question of what the Japanese war lords hoped to accomplish by the Kamikaze and Hitler by the Ardennes offense and the Battle of the Bulge.

Certainly for France, and almost as certainly for Italy as well, the objective is not victory in the cold war and the installation of Communist or Communist-dominated governments in Paris and in Rome. It is, rather, a desperate attempt to disorganize and discredit legitimate representative governments before the European recovery program can begin to work.

LIPPMANN

The new strategy is manifestly based on a realization that the Communist parties in western Europe cannot come into power legally—that is to say by winning a majority of the votes—nor by infiltration, nor by a revolutionary seizure of power as long as the Red Army is pinned down and cannot come to their support.

Parliamentary democracy, with all its faults and weaknesses, is too strong for them and stands in their way. Their only hope is to break it down, to render it impotent to govern." This would mean, as they know quite well, that Gen. de Gaulle would come into power in France, and in Italy some sort of neo-Fascist government.

Once parliamentary democracy had been broken down, they would be fighting not against democracy, as they are now, but against dictatorships of the right, and might hope to become the rallying point of all the republican and democratic forces of western Europe.

The calculation seems to be the same one as in Germany before the rise of Hitler—when they voted with the Nazis to destroy the German republic. The same unholy alliance against the constitutional order is operating today, and the Kremlin, which seems to forget nothing and to learn nothing, is almost certainly, against the better judgment of men like Duclos, Thorez and Togliatti, making the same miscalculation.

Boost for DeGaulle

For there is no doubt that in France the beneficiary of these disorders, if they paralyze the government, will be Gen. de Gaulle. At the present time, about half of the French Parliament is neither de Gaullist nor Communist. Out of some 600, the Communists can count on about 180 and the de Gaullists on about 150 deputies.

There can be no elections in France under the present constitution before May. Having broken violently with the Socialists and the various progressive parties, there is no chance whatever that the Communist party could be voted into power.

But there is a chance, if the disorder becomes great enough, that a sufficient number of the deputies, roughly 330 of them, who are now not for de Gaulle would go over to him; that he could come to power on his own terms; could alter the constitution, organize a new election in the spring, and then govern by decree without much responsibility to or interference from the parliament.

There is also little doubt that if Gen. de Gaulle came into power under these extraordinary circumstances, he would be carried along to measures which, while directed against the Communists, could not be limited to the Communists. His measures would spread far afield and strike in authoritarian fashion at the republic, and at the traditions of democracy and of personal liberty.

No Restraints

Whatever the general's own intentions, he has cut himself loose from the restraints of constitutionalism. The momentum of his movement and the circumstances of his accession to power would force him into a path where he would inevitably collide with French democracy. On the backswing from this, the Communists, reinforced by Republicans, from whom they are now alienated, might hope to recover some of the ground which they held in 1945, and have been losing ever since.

Though the situation in France is serious, the Communists—no doubt under orders from Moscow and against the wishes of the native French leaders—may have struck too soon. The constitutional parties, which now extend from the left wing of the Socialists to the stalwart Republicans of the right, still have the time, and they are now being given the incentive and the inducements, to save the French republic.

The Communists have become openly an instrument of Russian policy. They have resorted to violence. The constitutional parties can now do what, hitherto, only Gen. de Gaulle seemed able and willing to do.

They can use the whole power of the French state against what is now an open conspiracy against it. They can do it with the support of large masses of the working class, and of the great mass of Frenchmen who cling to the republican tradition. They can save the Republic, which is in danger, and France from Communist domination, whereas General deGaulle can only save France from communism by undermining the republic.

U.S. Position Clear

Fortunately, there is no longer any doubt as to where the United States government stands. It stands with the constitutional parties, whatever the composition of the government they agree upon, which entered into the commitments at the Paris conference that are the basis of the Marshall plan.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Nov. 18, 1937.

Many Indiana mothers, desiring monthly pension checks from the government, were getting divorces just to make their children legally "dependent," the state welfare department disclosed. The aid to dependent children was costing the state about $4,000,000 a year.

Local prices showed that a family of five would be able to dine and "dine well" on Thanksgiving day for around five or six dollars. Turkeys were plentiful at around 32 cents a pound dressed, cranberries were 18 cents a pound and in the vegetable bracket Irish potatoes were 30 cents a peck, Jersey sweets five cents a pound and cabbage three cents a pound. In the fruit section apples were to be had at 25 cents for seven to 10 pounds. Cheese was 25 to 27 cents a pound, cider 20 cents a gallon, oysters 55 cents a quart, hothouse tomatoes 25 cents a pound and baskets of fruit for table centerpieces were listed at from $1.25 to $3.50 each.

Two former members, Mrs. Guy H. Hulse of St. Louis, Mo. and Mrs. F. B. Morrison, joined members of the Marion circle, Child Conservation league, in a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Howard Jacoby of Cherry street.

Thomas B. Clark, 75, retired stationary engineer, died of a heart ailment at his home on South Grand avenue.

Miss Lucille Russell was welcomed as a new member at a meeting of the Quest club at the home of Miss Eloise Tschanen on South Prospect street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 18, 1927.

An Aberdeen Angus steer, "Buster," owned by Ralph E. Bender, 16, Waldo High school junior, won grand champion honors in the third annual Cleveland Livestock show.

Motion pictures portraying manufacture and operation of the various types of excavating machines made by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. were shown for the first time at the Marion theater. The pictures were taken for use in promoting sales of the company to foreign countries.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Austin of Decatur street and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foust of Plymouth street.

Members of the Dii Penates club and a group of neighbors and friends of Mrs. J. E. Hurd gave her a surprise housewarming at her new home on East Center street.

At one of the largest Order of DeMolay meetings ever held here with more than 300 attending from Marion, Kenton, Lima, Ashley and Bucyrus, the DeMolay degree was conferred by Rhu C. Cheney, Welcome P. Cass, Kenneth Clutter, James Richards and Edwin Spohn, past councillors.

"I thought it was seventy billion."

"What's the difference, with money what it is these days You've got to be broadminded."

"But why should it take so much money?"

"Inflation and the rate of exchange. Europe won't exchange her money for our money without a bonus."

"Suppose we exchange our money for her money how will that bring down the guerrillas from the hills and get England to use American movies?"

"All I know is that in case Princess Elizabeth's wedding doesn't restore better relations between all the nations we have got to try something else just as expensive or be held in contempt by the committee.

"What committee?"

"The committee that says Howard Hughes has got to answer yes or no whether he ever offered six billion dollars, part in exports and part in money, to get Johnny Meyer into "The Outlaw."

"What's that committee got to do with the Marshall Plan?"

"Well, Herbert Marshall has always been in the movies and naturally he is interested ain't he?"

Well, we can always go to the Russian press to get complete dope with nothing held back, colored or dictated, eh, Mollie?

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I keep wondering how we are going to get to 1st base if we can't make people read about the game. America's most serious problem is described in the words "I haven't had time to catch up on my reading."

I have the text of a dilly of a document written for the President of the United States. It's about civil rights. There isn't an off-color joke or a suggestive picture in it anywhere. No one named Amber slinks through its pages. In other words, not more than one American in 10,000 will read it. Of those who do read it, about 10 per cent will understand it. Yet, for purposes of saving everything that's most precious in the United States, this document should be taught in the schools. It's as important in its way as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, which Americans know about only vaguely and do not understand because most of them never read either one. Don't think I'm being snotty about the intelligence of Americans because I'm no better than the average. I only try, which is all anyone can do.

This report on civil rights was prepared by a crowd of folks headed by Charles E. Wilson, a king-size businessman, which offsets the presence in the same crowd of Americans like James B. Carey, a CIO official, Boris Shiskin, a Russian-born economist, a couple of high-brow educators, some big-league religionists, a couple of stirrer-uppers and so on. In brief, the kind of a crowd you'd suspect wouldn't be able to get together on anything. The only think they have in common is enthusiasm about freedom.

The main objective of the American way of life, they assert, is to bring more freedom to more people. Anything else is a betrayal of the trust placed in us by the pioneers who earned for posterity the right to be free in mind and body. As to civil rights, the foundation of American freedom, "the most important educational task in this field is to give the public living examples of civil rights in operation."

If I were a preacher I'd take that for a text and wake up my congregation. "Living examples of civil rights in operation." I'd point out a few. Such as the right of individuals to be protected from police brutality, to be free from poll taxes, to be free from government action based on preconceived suspicion, to be free from segregation when serving the United States, to be free from racial and religious discrimination in the pursuit of happiness and an ordinary living. Brother would I stir up the animals!

That's the way this country got its start—by stirring up the animals and making things so hot for their oppressors the punks decided to call it a day and work out on people who don't get stirred up. What the civil rights committee calls "moral erosion" is making it impossible for some Americans to understand in these modern times that getting stirred up is indispensable to the preservation of freedom. It's just another way of saying that eternal vigilance is the price of freedom—that whenever we get sleepy and indifferent the bigots and oppressors will go to work on us and start chiseling away at our liberties.

Say hello to your folks and tell them everything's set for Thanksgiving. Uncle Tom now weighs 161½ pounds and will put on at least two more before he gets the ax.

Princess Dances Until Late Hour at Pre-Wedding Party

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 18—Parties and a host of personal details jammed Princess Elizabeth's date book today, instantly claiming the waning hours before she weds handsome Lieut. Philip Mountbatten on Thursday.

But in all the final frenzy of preparation the 21-year-old princess, heiress presumptive to the British throne, frolicked until the wee hours this morning, whirling around the white and gold music room of Buckingham palace time after time in Philip's arms.

Both her impish-eyed younger sister Margaret and young King Mihai of Romania were there, too, among the princes and princesses and young nobles at the royal party for the "under thirty-five's."

Elizabeth was up early today, however, giving final touches to details of the wedding ceremony—details to which she has already given such care as picking out the notes of a tune for the singing of the Twenty-Third Psalm at the wedding.

Gift from Transjordan

Later she planned to receive the minister of Transjordan, bearing a gift from his country.

Another big party was planned to view the assembly of wedding gifts this afternoon, and tonight more than 1,000 guests have been bidden to the palace for a great reception.

Already the pressure of events was crowding the datebook too full and Mountbatten was to go alone this afternoon to stand godfather to the son of Lord and Lady Brabourne — a ceremony which Elizabeth also had planned to attend but had to cancel.

While the dancing went on last night, crowds of Britons gathered outside the palace, hearing the strains of music from one of London's society bands and hoping the happy princess and her fiance would step upon the balcony.

But only the dancing silhouettes whirled on the second floor.

Preparations at Westminster

Outside Westminster Abbey, too, crowds gathered; but there was only the crescendo of carpenters' hammers and one flash of brilliance as lights for televising the recessional blinked a test.

The watchers shivered in the chill November air and a smoky fog crept over London. It was only a thin fog—but a token of what might come to shut out the splendor of royal wedding pageantry.

London's first snow of the winter fell this morning, doublecrossing a weather bureau prediction which mentioned only continued cold and showers. Air ministry weather experts abandoned the usual "further outlook" for 48 hours and said the "situation is too difficult" to forecast that far ahead.

But no matter how bad the weather, there'll be some comfort for chilled onlookers. Many public houses and drinking clubs within a mile of the wedding route are asking—and receiving—permission to extend their hours of business.

FORMER OFFICIAL DIES

37 HURT IN PRISON RIOT

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Nov. 18—The Army announced today that 37 U. S. military prisoners were injured, three seriously, in a riot last Saturday at the Los Banos Laguna prison stockade 30 miles southeast of Manila. The Army said the riot was started by prisoners who had lost bets on a boxing match between two Filipino prisoners Friday night. The rioters charged that the bout had been "framed," the Army said.

GALION POWER ISSUE UP TO CITY COUNCIL

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 18—Whatever city council does tonight on the power question—and it may not be anything—the meeting promises to be a "hot" one as far as refutation fireworks are concerned.

It is likely that the matter of the purchase of the Diesel generating unit will be of prime consideration. It has been reliably learned from a member of council that the attorneys of the Fairbanks-Morse Company with whom the city had contracted for the purchase of a $110,000 diesel have recognized defects in the legislation passed by council for purchase of the diesel. City Solicitor Robert L. Moulton said he would not have any statement to make on this matter before council meets tonight.

Legality of the purchase of the diesel has been questioned for some time by Attorney Kenneth M. Petri, one of the proponents of supplemenary outside power. He has contended that the resolution passed last spring for the purchase of the diesel, was irregular because it was not advertised. Meanwhile he has maintained that he would file a taxpayers' suit if council proceeded with purchase of the diesel.

Council authorized down payment of $10,000 for the purchase of the diesel several months ago. Defects found in the legislation for its purchase would raise the question whether or not the city would have to lose the down payment if the deal was not completed.

However, observers look for council to receive amended legislation at tonight's meeting regarding the diesel purchase.

The board of control, composed of Mayor William Amann and Service Director K. A. Polster, has under consideration two bids for supplementary outside power from the Ohio Power company and the Ohio Public Service company. Decision on the bids has been held up until legality of the purchase of the diesel has been decided.

Galion became more power-conscious following a mechanical failure at the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, Sunday evening, at 6:55 p. m., when a 15-minute interruption of service occurred, and part of the city was darkened.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—Trial Examiner Thomas Maxson of the state public utilities commission called for completion of testimony today in the hearing on the Pennsylvania railroad's petition to abandon passenger trains 604 and 605 between Columbus and Akron.

Testifying yesterday, R. W. Shoemaker, city manager of Westerville, declared abandonment of the trains "would set us back 50 years as far as our ability to advertise Westerville as an up and coming community is concerened."

Mrs. Ihde explained that she used to sing this song in concerts while serving as a missionary in Japan. She also led the congregation in the singing of gospel choruses.

Following the service benediction, Mrs. Ihde presented on the organ, the "Poet and Peasant" overture. Special music was by the Bethlehem Grange quartet, composed of Walter Bender, Robert Rice, Oscar Kaelber and Earl Augenstein, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Rice. OHIO GASOLINE SITUATION IS EXPECTED TO IMPROVE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — Ohio's gasoline supply situation probably is as tight as it's ever been, but motorists still are able to buy gas "at one station or another," Robert A. Warfel, executive secretary of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association said today.

Warfel revealed that "the majority" of Ohio's oil companies were allocating gas supplies on the basis of shipments in the same month last year.

"They haven't sat down around a conference table and decided on such a policy," he continued, "but the majority have reduced shipments because they were not able to meet the unusually heavy demands."

He predicted the gas situation would ease when winter weather forestalls pleasure trips.

HUSBAND SLAIN. A detective listens as Mrs. Florence Kosar of Chicago sobs the details of how her husband, Michael, 42, was slain by a blast from a shotgun fired through a window of their apartment while eating supper. Mrs. Kosar was slightly wounded. Kosar was one one of seven men who took $2,000,000 from a real estate company's vaults in 1944. He later testified against two of his fellow bandits.

for essential food, fuel and reconstruction materials.

The administration braced itself, meanwhile, for complaints from several industries against the tariff reductions. It was recalled that wool producers were demanding that congress write a tariff increase even while the Geneva conference was negotiating the cuts last summer. Congress first voted a permissive increase, but when this ran into a presidential veto the lawmakers revived the government's price support program for two production years.

URGES STARTING CHILDREN TO SCHOOL AT TWO YEARS

By The United Press

NEW YORK—Rose Schneiderman, president of the Women's Trade Union League, believes the day will come in this city when children will start to school at the age of two.

"It's no longer practical," she said, "to tell all mothers of small children that they should stay home with their babies. Working women have made tremendous progress in our time. Women have better pay than ever before, children have better care and living standards are higher."

The league, she said, is now taking a poll of women to determine how they feel about it.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS OF SENATOR TAFT'S TALK

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Abridged highlights of the radio talk by Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R) of Ohio, criticizing President Truman's anti-inflation program:

The President is trying to sugar coat the pill. This is the OPA. This is the police state condemned by the President himself only a month ago. It is reaction and a step to a completely totalitarian nation.

We have to do everything we can to get prices down, but we don't need to surrender liberty to keep this country on an even keel.

Probably the most important cause of high prices is the tremendous volume of export buying. Exports can be cut down. In fact, if they continue at this present volume they present a threat to the whole economy, because they cannot possibly be maintained indefinitely when the world returns to normal.

We have been aiding Europe at the rate of about $5,000,000,000 a year of government grants, loans and other aid. I think we can maintain that rate without any need for setting up police state controls. But I can't see any reason for increasing the rate of the very generous contributions we have been making.

* * *

The way to help prices down is for the government to spend less money and reduce taxes, to limit exports and to hold the Marshall plan within a reasonable figure, and to control the growth of private credit.

From a Republican political standpoint it might be better for the congress to give the President the power which he demands, so that chaos and confusion will rebound to our advantage in November, 1948. But it seems to me that the issue is far deeper than any political issue.

* * *

Secretary Marshall is apparently interested in saving China from the Communists at a very reasonable cost while advocating billions for western Europe. His effort to reestablish the economy of western Europe with American dollars is completely hopeless as long as he continues in Germany to destroy the industrial plants which alone can make Germany self-supporting.

TRUMAN

man's anti-inflation program, it appeared that four might be approved without difficulty, four were doubtful or uncertain and two were lost.

Reasonable sure of approval were:

1. Restoration on consumer credit controls and restraint on creation of inflationary bank credit.

2. Extension and strengthening of export controls.

3. Extension and strengthening of rent controls.

4. Extension of authority to regulate transportation facilities and equipment.

Doubtful or uncertain.

1. Regulation of commodity exchange trading.

2. Measures to persuade growers to market livestock and poultry at weights approved by the government—a grain conservation maneuver.

3. Expansion of government-fostered agricultural conservation practices in the United States and measures to induce increased food production abroad.

4. Allocation and inventory control of scarce commodities basically affecting living costs or industrial production.

The other two points dealt with wage-price ceilings and rationing. In seeking these latter controls Mr. Truman assured congress they would be used only as a last resort if voluntary measures failed. There was some reason to believe the administration expected mere enactment of control authority to be sufficient to persuade all-concerned to co-operate effectively in voluntary measures.

gree murder in the slaying of a University of Wisconsin medical student and with rape in connection with the attack on a 19-year-old University of Michigan co-ed.

Sheriff Ray Kutsche of Clark county said the young ex-convicts had "freely admitted" the shooting of Carl L. Carlson, 25, the medical student, and the rape of his sister-in-law, Janet Ann Rosenblatt of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, during a wild automobile ride Friday night. Miss Rosenblatt and Carlson had been picked up by the youths when they hitchhiked a ride to Carlson's home in Badger Village, near Madison.

Sheriff Herb Hammond of Price county, a member of the posse, said Winslow also had said in a statement that he and Sennett shot and wounded two teen-age girls near Phillips, Wis., on Aug. 15, when they refused to enter their car. The two girls are Betty Kudrna, 16, still hospitalized after a bullet was removed from her lung, and her sister, Irene, who was only slightly wounded.

U. S. Army Officers' Role Set in Greece

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Nov. 18—Dwight P. Griswold, head of the U. S. aid mission to Greece, told a news conference today that in future American Army officers will "be observers and advisors on all military matters with the Greek army."

The officers will be part of an AMAG Army group which up to the present has been able only to procure and advise on the subject of equipment.

"The officers," Griswold said, "will have advisory functions and no command functions."

Maj. Gen. Willam G. Livesay, head of the U. S. military mission in Greece, said this meant that American officers "inevitably but incidentally" would get into combat areas while fighting was going on.

First Break Reported In Cincinnati Strike

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—An estimated 170 employes of 10 warehouses were pledged to return to their jobs today, thus providing the first break worthy of note in a strike of AFL truck drivers, warehousemen and helpers for a 30-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Attorneys for the warehouses—nine operated by wholesale grocery concerns and the other by a paper company—announced last night the warehousemen had voted to return to work after accepting an increase of 15 cents an hour and agreeing to continue negotiations on other contract issues.

Still on strike were approximately 280 other warehouse workers, also members of local 661 teamsters, chauffeurs, warehousemen and helpers union, but employed by terminal warehouses. They joined the union's local 100, the truck drivers, yesterday morning in a strike for 30 cents more on the hour.

STATE CAMPAIGNS ON TAX DODGERS

Collections Reported in Marion, Morrow, Hardin Counties.

A campaign by State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander against Ohio tax dodgers which the commissioner estimates will return tax revenues of $3,000,000 for the 1947-48 biennium, has been initiated in 33 counties including Marion, Hardin and Wyandot counties in this area. The Associated Press reported from Columbus.

In making a report to Governor Herbert, the tax commissioner pointed out that his campaign was being aimed at business establishments which have failed to pay personal property taxes.

The enforcement program has already been completed in 25 of the 33 counties, the report stated with Marion and Morrow counties among those listed as finished. Additional personal property taxes are still being collected in Hardin county.

According to the list submitted to the governor, 100 additional taxpayers in Marion county have contributed $4,664 while 24 in Morrow county have returned a total of $95. In Hardin county where enforcement officials are still ferreting out delinquents, 300 new taxpayers have already coughed up $4,534.

In his report to Gov. Herbert, the commissioner estimated the drive would yield additional personal property tax revenues of about $3,000,000 for the 1947-48 biennium. The report was released through Republican state headquarters.

"It should be remembered," the report stated, "that this amount represents local revenues vitally needed in the larger cities and the metropolitan counties. No part of the money goes to the state treasury."

Previously Glander announced a drive to fight "widespread" dodging of the three per cent state sales tax by merchants and the public.

Glander's report to the governor on the personal property tax campaign said "the department of taxation is now adding personal property taxes at the rate of $30,000 per week and new taxpayers at the rate of about 750 per week."

SAYS FAKERS SOLD "BILL OF GOODS" TO PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—President Truman "does not, or could not have any first-hand idea as to what the real estate business is all about," the executive director of the Boston Apartment House Owners association says.

Addressing the National Apartment House Owners association yesterday, Thomas R. Flynn asserted:

"He was sold a bill of goods by a crew of political fakers and in going along with their chicanery stepped down into the deep mire and muck of demagogery at its worst."

He declared "rent control has been singled out as the prime cut of the political roast beef for both parties and the basic caloric value for the nourishment of both political platforms."

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

"If Skin Cancer Is Suspected, See a Doctor

In many cases, failure to seek treatment for cancer until it is too late can be charged to the very nature of the disease. Some cancers are so hidden and so silent that the patient himself dose not realize his need for help.

Skin cancers, however, are a different story. Any growth on the skin is, of course, promptly noticed, and yet, people are so careless that skin growths are often allowed to go on increasing in size for months before a physician is consulted.

The penalty for such neglect may be two-fold. In the first place, some skin cancers have a way of setting up new colonies of cancer cells in other parts of the body where they may prove fatal.

In the second place, skin cancers, once discovered, must be removed completely, regardless of how large a scar may be left. Hence, the earlier skin cancer is detected and removed, the smaller the resulting scar will be.

Many skin cancers can be eradicated quite simply by means of an electric needle. Following treatment with the electric needle, the dead tissue is removed by scraping, and X-ray treatments are employed. As a general rule, about three such X-ray treatments are required.

One type of skin cancer is known as basal cell epithelioma. The edges of the growth are waxy or grey in appearance, and such tumors grow slowly. One type, however, called the rodent ulcer, is particularly destructive, especially when present on the eyelid or nose.

When a skin growth is present, a small bit of the tissues may be removed and examined under the microscope to determine definitely just what type of growth is present.

It has been noted that treatment with arsenic-containing drugs may result in a number of basal cell epitheliomas. These may appear on the trunk, arms, or thighs.

Another type of skin cancer is called squamous cell carcinomas. These occur most often on the arms or legs in old X-Ray burns or scars. These tumors grow rapidly, and the growth often becomes inflamed.

Still a third type is known as melanocarcinomas. These tumors are extremely dangerous. The growth first appears as a pinhead to a pea-size bluish or brownish pimple. It may be present on the sole of the foot, toe, buttock, forearm, or under the finger nail.

The tumors grow gradually and, within six months, may be the size of a hazelnut. Such tumor may arise from an irritated mole. Any mole which is subject to irritation or begins to grow should be removed by the electric needle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. T.: My sister has a sort of burning feeling on her tongue. She is very nervous. Can nervousness cause this?

Answer: Burning of the tongue is usually due to infection. When this condition occurs, an examination of the mouth and nose should be made to determine just what disorders are present; then the proper treatment can be given.

Sometimes a burning of the tongue occurs in individuals between 40 and 60 years of age, the exact cause of which is not known. X-ray treatments of the tongue relieves this condition in some cases.

In rare cases, nervousness may be the cause.

Report 3 Accidents In Bucyrus Area

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 18—Wet and slippery highways caused three automobile accidents in and near Bucyrus over the weekend and sent several persons to hospitals, two with serious injuries.

Gerald S. Click, Massillon, was removed to Massillon hospital after X-ray examinations at Bucyrus City hospital disclosed four fractures of the pelvis received in an accident while he and three companions were enroute west on a hunting trip. Others in the car, all from the Canton-Massillon area, received cuts and bruises for which they received hospital first aid.

Paul Criswell, 22, of near Marion, was transferred to Marion City hospital after he was found to be suffering a fractured left hip and pelvis as the result of an accident caused by a skidding Isaly Dairy truck which he was driving on route 19, north of Bucyrus, Saturday. His companion, F. O. Euspan, also of Marion suffered bruises. Ice cream and butter were strewn along the road where the truck left the highway.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I THREW up my right hand in a mirthful salute to Katharine which held more respect for her keenness, than mockery.

"You've called the turn, as always," I said, "After Mary conjectured that Georges thought she might have a romantic twinge at seeing him married to Olina, and that Noel and Olina, while sure of her immunity, were not so sure of the royal playboy's feelings; she didn't mention her lines again."

"And my bet still holds good," Katharine said. "She hasn't given a thought to them, and won't until she gets her plans for reducing Georges to size worked out of her sytem."

"But what do you think about her reactions afterward?" I asked anxiously. "Won't there be a letdown?"

"Possibly, but not probably," Katharine replied with decision. "However, we haven't a thing to say. If she were kept from this wedding, and stayed here with Noel, imagining all sorts of things about what the bride, the groom, and the wedding guests were thinking about the situation, she'd be flat on her back again. Any possible reaction she'd have to the excitement of the wedding and her campaign against Georges would be nothing in comparison."

"I don't think you'd have a thing to say in any case," Dicky said blandly. "According to the report my spouse has just given, Mary apears to have made her own decision. She's hell bent on attending this wedding, and Heaven help any poor kinsman, kinswoman, or well-intentioned friend who dares stand in her way."

Katharine and I nodded, like mandarins, I told myself mirthfully, in assent to Dicky's pronouncement, and then he stood up yawning.

"Is there anything else before the house which calls for my vote or veto?" he asked.

"Not a thing," I told him. "Go back and curl up with your good book'."

"I'll have something better than the book," he said with glee that was positively malignant. "I'll have visions of all the little perforations Georges is going to have in his royal hide by the time Mary gets through casting her poisoned darts at him. Good-night, ladies. I trust your dreams will be as pleasant as mine are going to be."

He bent and kissed me, and then went to the door.

"I'll be back anon and occupy my room next to Faith's," he said. "I don't trust either of you two baby-sitters to look after me cheeld."

"Get along with you," Katharine told him, "or I personally will see to it that you aren't in shape to look after anybody, including yourself."

He made her a sweeping bow, adjusted an imaginary monocle, and gave her a scathing look. Then he went out of the door, and Katharine and I gave ourselves up to comfortable laughter, which, I think, held a trace of sardonic reflections upon the moods of men.

Katharine gave voice to our thought a second later.

"Georges doesn't appear to be popular with our men folk, does he?" she asked.

"No, he doesn't," I answered, then added slowly: "And yet, he has many of the qualities that men admire. He is brave, resourceful, skillful, honorable in everything except his dealings with women, and he isn't vicious in those simply irresponsible."

Katharine looked at me scathingly.

"If I didn't know you so well," she said, "I should think that you had fallen for the royal play boy, yourself—"

"When you say that, smile," I quoted, and she laughed.

"Oh, I'm grinning," she said, "but honestly, Madge, sometimes I think you'd find excuses for the devil himself, if he were cavorting around here."

"Do you mean," I asked mildly, that you think Georges is a devil?"

"Of sorts," she repeated. "But we don't need to worry any more about him. Mary will attend to his case, and how. So let's lay him on the shelf for a while, and consider something else. You're going to the hideaway secretly tomorrow night with Georges?"

"Yes, I am," I replied, wondering what lay behind her question.

"What's on your mind for tomorrow?" she asked next.

"Not a thing," I said. "Father said I was to come back the next day, so I'm taking only an overnight bag which I always keep packed. I haven't a thing to do except cue Mary."

"I don't think you'll have much of that to do," she said, "especially as I don't want her to get back into that routine for a day or two, until this first excitement about Georges has had time to sizzle a bit. But, there is a job that ought to be done, and I think it would better be done tomorrow. Then it will be out of the way."

"And that is?" I queried.

"Mary hasn't gone to see her grandmother at the hospital, yet," Katharine said, "and she ought to go before she departs for Sag Harbor and the wedding."

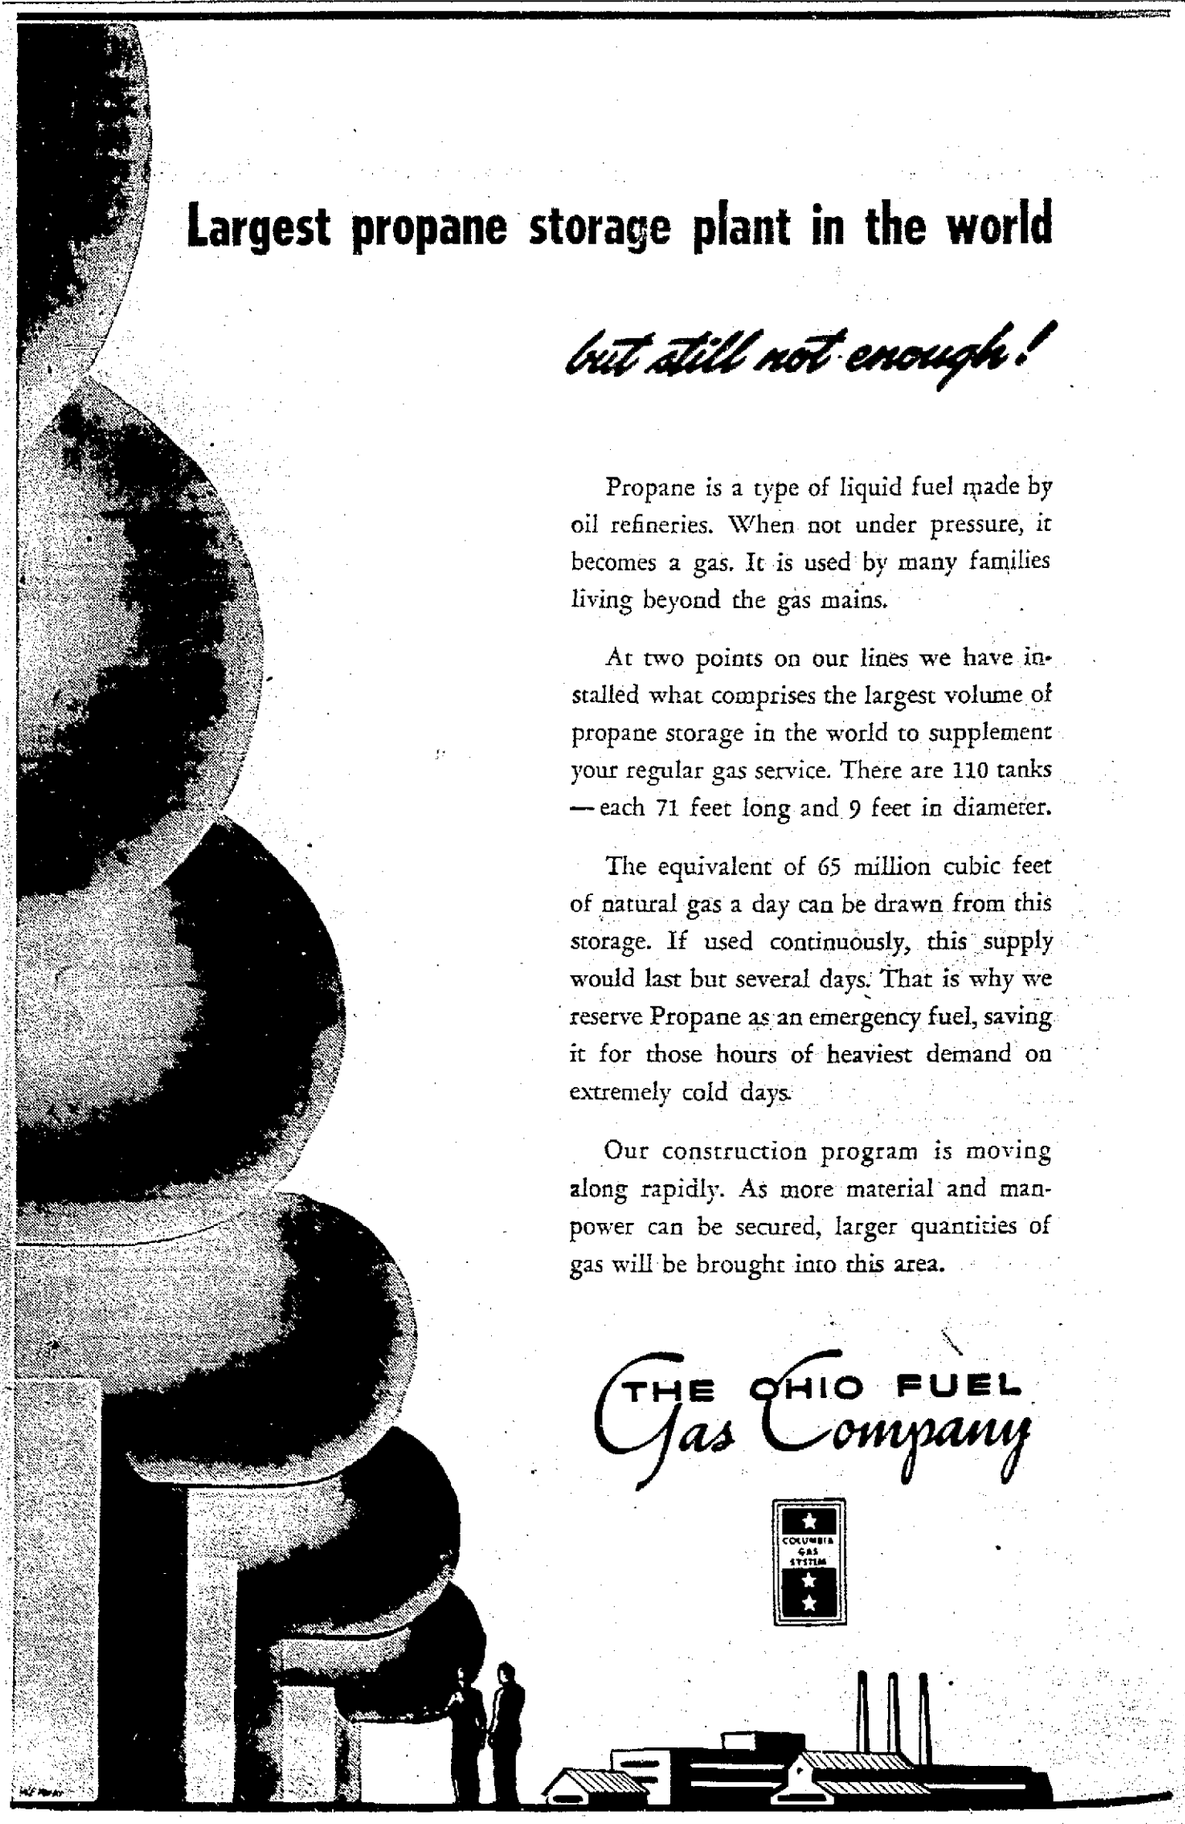
Largest propane storage plant in the world

but still not enough!



Propane is a type of liquid fuel made by oil refineries. When not under pressure, it becomes a gas. It is used by many families living beyond the gas mains.

At two points on our lines we have installed what comprises the largest volume of propane storage in the world to supplement your regular gas service. There are 110 tanks — each 71 feet long and 9 feet in diameter.

The equivalent of 65 million cubic feet of natural gas a day can be drawn from this storage. If used continuously, this supply would last but several days. That is why we reserve Propane as an emergency fuel, saving it for those hours of heaviest demand on extremely cold days.

Our construction program is moving along rapidly. As more material and manpower can be secured, larger quantities of gas will be brought into this area.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The whole business of price and wage controls and rationing is now neck-deep in politics. Don't expect their return. The outlook is very dim. But they probably will be one of the main issues in the 1948 elections on next November.

President Truman asked congress for power to use those controls again if, and when, he thinks they're needed to cope with living costs.

The Republican-controlled congress would have to pass a law to give that power to Mr. Truman, who probably will be the Democratic candidate for President next year.

But the two most powerful Republican leaders in congress have denounced the whole idea.

They're Senator Taft of Ohio who wants to be the Republican candidate for president, and Rep. Martin of Mass., speaker of the house.

MARLOW

Taft made such a savage attack on the whole idea in a radio talk last night that it seems impossible he could ever change over.

For that reason, he was basing a lot of his political future on whether time would show he was right.

Since the summer of 1946, when OPA began to collapse under the battering of congress, living costs have risen 23 percent and still are rising.

(OPA, with its price controls and rationing, died in the fall of 1946.)

Mr. Truman said it would take months to start the controls working, because of the need to set up agencies, if congress gave him the power now.

SINCE HE THINKS that would take months—and since congress would argue for months before giving him the controls, if it ever did—it seems impossible there could be any controls anyway before next spring.

And this is where the politics come in:

Suppose the Republican-controlled congress refuses the President's request—as it seems sure to do—and living costs get out of hand.

In the 1948 political campaign Mr. Truman will be able to tell the voters:

"I asked congress for power to control living costs but the Republicans wouldn't give it to me. Blame the Republicans."

Then the Republicans will have to explain why they didn't let him have the controls. Mr. Truman doesn't stand to lose much by his request.

But Senator Taft made it clear last night that he's sharply aware of the political importance of all this.

HE SAID THAT, from a political standpoint, it might be better for congress to let Mr. Truman have the controls he asks because the public would 'get mad at the President.

But the senator said such controls in peacetime would mean a "police state" and he wants no part of it.

Would the power Mr. Truman asks mean a return of OPA or some agency like OPA under a new name?

Mr. Truman said he wanted to control only items which are at the heart of living costs, like food, clothing, fuel and rents.

(Rent controls end February 29, unless congress continues them. It probably will do that.)

So Mr. Truman argues this wouldn't mean controlling or rationing everything but only those main items if they get scarce or too high in price.

BUT SENATOR TAFT SAYS, in effect, that this is bunk, that wartime experience shows you have to control everything, if you control a few things.

It's possible, though, that congress may give Mr. Truman some other controls he asked, for example:

He asked for power to restore controls on credit buying. These died Nov. 1.

(These controls, started in wartime, generally required a one-third down-payment and full payment within 15 months on things like automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and so on).

And congress may give him power to allocate—that is, to say what goes where and for what purpose — important scarce goods like steel.

For example: a lot of steel now is going into beer cans. With power to allocate, Mr. Truman could order some of that steel used in making box-cars, which are badly needed.

Sauer & Ocker Store Ending Long Operation

Fred H. Sauer of Sauer & Ocker, is closing out his stock of groceries and will discontinue business at 117 North Main street Dec. 1. One of the oldest grocery stores and also one of the few remaining independent grocery stores in the down town district, Sauer & Ocker has been an established business in Marion more than 30 years.

The partnership was formed by Mr. Sauer and W. W. Ocker in March 1917 when they purchased the grocery business of R. T Lewis & Co. and the business has continued in the same room since then. Mr. Ocker died in the early 1920's and the business has since been carired on under the firm name by Mr. and Mrs. Sauer.

Delivery business was discontinued and the store became a self-serve in 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. Sauer, who live at 699 East Church street, have no definite plans and for the present will divide their time between their home here and their cottage between Ashley and Marengo where they have spent considerable of their time in past seasons.

Mr. Sauer operated a restaurant 15 years before coming to Marion and Mr. Ocker had a recreation parlor at Chillicothe.

Capital Capers

WASHINGTON

I've been to many a press conference in my day, but never to one like Maj. Gen. Bennie Meyers', where the news was so sizzling it couldn't be printed at all.

All morning the general champed on an unlit cigar, while witnesses told how he organized an electric manufacturing company on the q.t., and then drummed up a million dollars worth of business for it while he was assistant air force procurement officer.

Gen. Meyers rubbed his closely-clipped, Groucho Marx mustache and smiled faintly when B. H. Lamarre told about earning $31,000 a year officially — as president of the Aviation Electric Corp., but actually getting $50 a week. The rest of his salary, he said, went to the general.

OTHMAN

When the senate war investigating committee recessed the proceedings, the reporters converged upon Gen. Meyers.

"You want to know why I organized the company?" he repeated. "Well, I'll tell you . . ."

His attorney remonstrated.

"Hell," said the general. "My wife knows about it. I'm not ashamed of what I did. So this is what happened . . ."

His lawyer said at least he ought to speak off the record; that he should get a promise from the correspondents not to publish his statement.

"Let 'em print it if they want," the general said. "I've got nothing to hide."

THE COUNSEL SUBSIDED and Gen. Meyers launched into one of the wildest-eyed tales of women and big business, well-mixed, as these old ears ever have heard. The trouble was he mentioned names and if I were even to hint who he was talking about, or indicate what happened, I'd probably spend the rest of my days behind the bars on a libel conviction. Oh well.

Sen. Homer F. Ferguson of Michigan, the chairman, probably will spread on the record before he's through all the reasons, including the lovey-dovey, for the electric company. And I'd better stick in the meantime, to the sworn testimony; it's enough in itself to take the curl out of a taxpayer's hair:

Gen. Meyers (and this is testimony of Lamarre under oath, mind you) put put $300 to organize his company; he gave the stock to dummies, and then he

There you are, taxpayer, that much, to the tune of 000 and, according to his sworn testimony, it's enough in itself to take the curl out of a taxpayer's hair.

Not so, retorted Gen. Meyers, and anyway what about a affair of the heart? But talking off the cuff and I want to go to jail, maybe, I'll tell you about sex in the war and electric business.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

New York

GOTHAM Gab:

If your wife misunderstands you, perhaps you might want to become a link in a new chainletter fad which holds out great possibilities for benpecked husbands.

The letter, now circulating in Manhattan, goes like this:

"Dear friend,

"This chain letter was started in the hope of bringing happiness-or at least a chance - to the Henpecked Husbands of America.

"It doesn't cost any money. You simply send a copy of this letter to five other husbands, then bundle up your wife and send her to the fellow at the top of the list.

BOYLE

"You will receive 17,178 women when your own name comes to the top of the list. Have faith—and don't break the magic chain. One man who broke it got his own wife back."

But the scheme is falling flat. Nobody seems to want to trade one nagging wife for 16,178 others with the same defect.

A YOUNG MAN employed by the U. S. state department wasn't worried by the government's loyalty check. His conscience was perfectly clear.

But a little bird upset him the other day. The bird was a fortune-telling parrot on Fifth avenue. The young man dropped a coin in the palm of the parrot's owner, and the parrot waddled over to a row of small folded papers bearing printed forecasts of the future. It picked one out with its beak.

The young man opened it and was startled to read:

"You have been betrayed by a person you never suspected."

BROADWAY SUCCESS STORY: Bars in the "tinsel forties" off times square kept a bowl of hard-boiled eggs handy for late-drinking customers.

The eggs in many of the bars are supplied by an alert pleasant-faced woman who first came here years ago as a stage-struck kid. She was pretty but no threat to Helen Hayes. She got a few small bit parts, took a turn at modeling, and then hit the skids. She became a party girl and wound up on the bottle.

"She was headed for the bottom fast," said a bartender, "when some guy came along and sold her on marriage and a chicken ranch over in Jersey. That straightened her out.

"Once a week she comes to town to sell her eggs and ask about old friends. Then she goes back to Jersey. I asked her once was she happy and she just laughed and said: "Whoever made a profit out of laying an egg on Broadway? I do better selling 'em."

SPEAKING OF EGGS, the one best basket to put them all in here has been Manhattan real estate—at least in the past.

Back in 1818, when Times Square itself was a cattle pasture, Robert Lenox paid $500 for five acres way up around 71st and Fifth avenue. He feared he had been stung, paying so much for this country property.

But today the land is estimated to be worth $50,000,000 exactly 100,000 times what Lenox paid for it.

Lenox, unfortunately, died in 1839, or 108 years too soon.

Marital Counselling Clinic Arranged

The clinic is sponsored jointly by the social action committee of the Marion County Council of Churches and the Marion County Ministerial association.

Dr. Faust and Mrs. Faust are well known in Columbus for their work in domestic counselling, and Dr. Faust has a daily radio counselling program called "Troubles Anonymous." He will direct two sessions here, one at 1 p. m. centering on the problem of premarital counselling, and another at 2:30 on marital conflict and adjustment counselling. The place will be the reading room of the Y. and the clinic will be open to any ministers interested, it was announced.

Springfield City Head Cuts Service Forces

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 18—Further curtailment in city services were promised today by City Manager Oscar R. Fleckner, who already has halted trash collections and "furloughed" almost half of the street and sewer department workers.

Fleckner began "putting the city on a sound financial basis" last week after voters defeated a two-mill emergency operating levy in the Nov. 4 election.

He announced last night that 45 of the 96 street and sewer department employes would be taken off the payroll at the end of the work day Tuesday, and the remaining employes cut from a 44 to a 40-hour week.

"When the city gets back on a sound financial basis, every employe furloughed will be reinstated," Fleckner added.

SCRAP IRON SCARCE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18 — Scrap iron consumers and dealers have barely six weeks' supply for the nation's steel mills, President Philip W. Frieder of the Institute of Scrap, Iron and Steel, Inc., said today in launching a national drive for scrap iron. Frieder said the institute will concentrate the drive primarily on automobile graveyards. He said 1,000,000 cars now in junkyards could be scrapped.

The schedule hasn't yet been filled out.

Coach Somerlot hopes to carry 14 or 15 men in the varsity squad for several weeks, before cutting. Those cut will move to Coach Pete Howison's reserves, and men cut from the reserves will turn up with Coach Keel if they are sophomores.

The varsity and reserve teams practice in Edison gym, one week in the afternoon, and the next in the evening. Sophomores will practice every night in the Harding gym.

Somerlot is not optimistic about the season prospects for the varsity, but said the reserves look good. Last year they won 9 and lost 6.

Somerlot said his basic defense will be man-for-man, but that he'll drill his boys on zone and combination defenses. This week they'll work on offense.

Bootin' Beauty—That's Automatic Aggy

Toeless Place-Kicker Didn't Miss a Conversion in 115 Attempts.

By BILL BECKER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES—When toeless Agajanian missed a conversion attempt this month against the San Francisco 49ers, it was the first extra point try the Los Angeles Dons' bootin' beauty had missed in "somewhere over 115" attempts.

The flub ended a never-miss string that extended over four seasons of tough professional play.

But in the same game the Armenian from Anaheim, Calif., who is minus four toes on his kicking foot, booted a 50-yard field goal, the longest ever seen in Memorial Coliseum here.

Boots 53 Yards

Two weeks earlier in Baltimore he set an All-America Conference record with a 53-yard placement. It was only one yard short of Glenn Presnell's all-time pro mark.

Automatic Aggy accounted for 31 straight conversions before his miss and seven field goals in the Don's first ten games. His point total of 52 was one behind that of his leading rival, Lou (The Toe) Groza of Cleveland. Groza had 32 extra points (missing three) and seven field goals.

The accident that cost Agajanian his toes happened in March, 1941, when he was a junior and already recognized as a good place-kicker and lineman at New Mexico university.

Loses Toes

He was riding in a freight elevator when the toes of his right foot were caught between the moving car floor and a protruding ledge. All but the little toe were shorn off.

His coach, Ted Shipkey—now assistant coach of the Dons and a big reason why Aggy is with the club—made him stay with football. The gritty player spent all summer toughening the foot in brine solution. Skipkey got him a special square-toed shoe, size seven; he wears a ten on the left foot.

That fall Agajanian made every conversion and booted six field goals for New Mexico.

Starting his pro cateer in 1942, Ben missed one extra point try with the Hollywood Bears, and failed once the next year with the San Diego Bombers. From then on, he says, he made every conversion attempt until his recent miss. The string extended through service with Hollywood, 1944; Philadelphia Eagles and Pittsburgh Steels, 1945, and Hollywood, 1946.

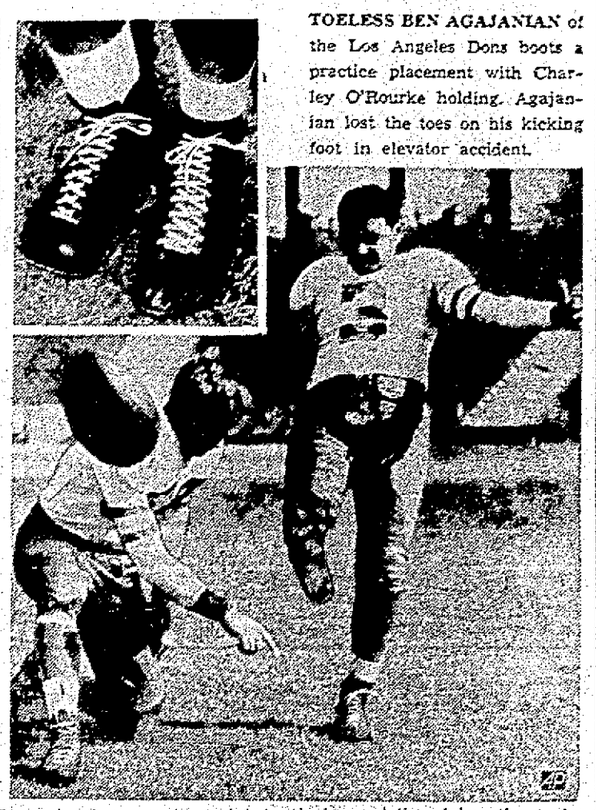
No figures are available on the exact number of consecutive conversions, but Aggy places it at over 115.

The 210-pound, six-foot, two-inch specialist claims the toeless foot is an asset in his work.

"It's like a hammer," he says. "With the square striking surface I can hit 'em harder and straighter."

Unlike Groza, Agajanian uses no tape to line up his kicks. He takes two quick steps and whams away, not bothering to keep his head down like most placement experts.

He does nothing but kick for the Dons—that's all his contract calls for. Everybody's happy with the result.



TOELESS BEN AGAJANIAN of the Los Angeles Dons boots a practice placement with Charley O'Rourke holding. Agajanian lost the toes on his kicking foot in elevator accident.

BOSOX FANS SEE NO PENNANT IN DEAL

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 18—Let down hard so many times by six-figure deals, not even the most rabid of the Red Sox rooters hailed the seven-two trade with the St. Louis Browns for Vernon (Junior) Stephens and Jack Kramer as anything slightly resembling a harbinger of the 1948 American League pennant.

But even the most lukewarm agreed yesterday's acquisition of the dashing Stephens would do much to boost Ted Williams back into the .400 batting stratosphere.

"Williams never again will draw 161 bases on balls. They'll have to pitch to him with Stephens coming up next," was the consensus of the fans on the street. While drawing his 161 free rides to first base last season, Ted was limited to a .343 average, only one point more than his 1946 batting mark.

Jack Kramer's addition to the Red Sox pitching staff is bound to be helpful but, the experts agree, even Joe McCarthy needs four dependable starters to return Tom Yawkey's sockers to the championship fold.

Chances are at least 50-50 that the Browns got one or more stars in the making when general manager Joe Cronin turned over infielder Eddie Pellagrini, catcher Roy Partee and such promising Louisville farmhands as pitcher Jim Wilson and Al Widmar and outfielder Pete Layden while promising two more unnamed players for future delivery.

IOWA COACH STILL IN

Bucyrus Builds Cagers Around 2 Lettermen

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 18 — Two varsity lettermen were among the 14 boys who turned out Monday night for the first Redmen basketball practice called by Coach Al Pesek.

Jimmy Gallant, forward and Eugene Grove, center, will be the nucleus about which the team will be built this season with Larry Morton at the other forward position. Dick and Bill Kibler, juniors, are promising material up from the reserves as are Dick Johns, center, Bob Dutcher, guard, and Dick Light, forward.

Others out for the first workout were Keith Watts, forward; Jim Ball, guard; Jack Temple, center; Walt Light, center, and Bill Skinner, forward.

The local cagers will open the season at home against Tiffin Columbian Dec. 5.

DI MAGGIO RESTING UP AFTER ELBOW OPERATION

By The United Press

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 17 — Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees rested at famed Johns Hopkins hospital today after a bone chip was removed from his elbow.

Di Maggio underwent an operation performed yesterday by Dr. George Bennett, who said that the noted outfield slugger will be released from the hospital in a week.

NEW YORK D.A. SCANS FOX-LAMOTTA FIGHT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — The New York county grand jury, under the direction of the district attorney's office, for the second time within a year, stepped in to investigate the city's boxing situation today.

The inquiry will be into last Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight in which Billy Fox of Philadelphia was awarded a TKO over Jake Lamotta of New York in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Col. Eddie Eagon, chairman of the State Athletic (Boxing) Commission, proclaimed that he had ordered Sol Strauss, promoter of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, to withhold the purses of Fox and Lamotta pending an independent investigation by the commission. They were to have been paid $23,910.22 each from the gross receipts of the $102,528 from 18,340 fans.

Specifically the two separate investigations are the result of adverse newspaper criticism.

Eagan, who immediately after the fight said he thought both fighters gave sincere efforts, issued a statement saying "at present there is no local evidence that the contest was not honestly fought by both boxers to the best of their ability. The commission will investigate the circumstances and make its determination after such an investigation."

3 Appointments Made To O.S.U. Athletic Board

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — Ohio State President Howard Bevis today described as "just a normal change" the appointment of three new faculty members to the university's athletic board.

Bevis himself was among those leaving the board. The others are James R. Hopkins, board chairman until his retirement from the university last June, and the school's Western Conference faculty representative, Professor James E. Pollard.

Vice President Bland L. Stradley and Professors Wendell Postle and Frank R. Strong are the new appointees. They join four others from the faculty on the 12-member board, which holds its monthly meeting tomorrow.

SCOUT GIVES BUCKS NO ENCOURAGEMENT

Wolves Have "Eye-Blinding Speed," Says Sarkkinen.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—Esco Sarkkinen, who scouted Michigan's football powerhouse for Ohio State, today had little encouragement for the Buckeyes as they stepped up drills for Saturday's date with the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines at Ann Arbor.

In fact, Sarkkinen sounded almost like Michigan's best booster as he detailed the "why's" of its perfect record in eight starts.

Sarkkinen outlined Coach Fritz Crisler's system of different offensive and defensive units. Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, the left half, remains in on both phases of play, but Crisler shifts his other men when the ball changes hands.

"They have eye-blinding speed on offense, and are hard, crisp blockers," Sarkkinen reported.

"On defense, the men are bigger and much more rugged, and Crisler uses four, five, six, seven and eight man lines to disorganize the offensive blocking," he said.

"Bump" Most Dangerous

Bob Chappius, the back who engineered the Ohio State rout last fall, is the most versatile, the Ohio scout continued, but Elliott, who has scored 48 points, "is the most dangerous runner."

Quarterback Howard Yerges, a member of Ohio State's 1943 squad, "is like a surgeon with a scalpel, and the same as a second coach." Fullback Jack Weisenburger, the other defensive back, he called a "brilliant performer" in spinner plays.

Two Ohio prep players, Dick Kempthorn and Gene Derricotte, and Wally Teninga take over the defensive backfield assignments.

Sarkkinen also was lavish in his praise of the Michigan line.

"To show the speed of the tackles, Capt. Bruce Hilkene, who operates on the left side, is a converted end," Sarkkinen said, "and George Johnson, an end from Upper Arlington High school, shares the other defensive spot with 29-year-old Al Wistert."

Another former Ohio State player, J. T. White, handles offensive center.

Bucks Drill

Buckeye Coach Wes Fesler sent his team through an hour and a half drill yesterday, with the emphasis on offensive signals and defensive assignments.

Left Half Rod Swinehart and Right Half Bob Demmel, who both began playing regularly after other backfield performers were forced out or slowed by injuries, missed the drill because of leg bruises received in the Illinois game last week.

"Fat Pat, Get Slim" Says Big Chief Injin

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18—Husky Pat Seerey, Cleveland Indians outfielder who sat on the bench most of last season, was under orders today to report for spring training next year at 195 pounds—or else.

Tribe President Bill Veeck disclosed he advised Seerey in a showdown conference two weeks ago to consult a dietician at Cleveland Clinic hospital and to prepare for a conditioning siege in California.

Following instructions, the heavy-set outfielder has shaved his weight from 225 to 214 and will leave his home here tomorrow for California.

"I don't want to give up on Pat," Veeck said. "I think that as long as he can stay in condition he can be a great ball player. * * * But he know's it's next season or never."

Wolves Replace Irish as Top Team in Nation.

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — Prestige gained by a 40-6 romp over a highly-rated Wisconsin team sent the Michigan Wolverines to the top of the pile today in the weekly Associated Press coast-to-coast poll of 246 football writers.

Despite Notre Dame's 26-19 victory over Northwestern, the Fighting Irish dropped to second place.

Michigan drew 140 first place votes and Notre Dame 87 as a record number of newsmen participated in the balloting.

Although Southern Methodist had to go hard to beat Arkansas, 14-6, the Mustangs advanced when Penn dropped from third to sixth after its 7-7 tie with Army, marring its perfect record. Idle Southern California, which faces UCLA in the big Pacific Coast conference title game Saturday, also moved up a peg to fourth in the standings.

Penn State, impressive in its 20-7 decision over Army, advanced from eighth to fifth.

Seventh place went to Texas, a 20-0 victor over Texas Christian, and Alabama's Crimson Tide surged all the way from 14th to eighth by knocking off previously-unbeaten and untied Georgia Tech. The Tech club tumbled from sixth to tenth on the loss.

The total vote with points figured on a 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis—(first place votes in parentheses):

1	Michigan (140)	2341
2	Notre Dame (87)	2261
3	Southern Methodist (9)	1801
4	Southern California (3)	1522
5	Penn State (6)	1371
6	Pennsylvania	1099
7	Texas	953
8	Alabama	477
9	California	308
10	Georgia Tech	302

11—Army, 277; 12—Illinois, 195; 13—North Carolina (1), 109; 14—William and Mary, 99; 15—Mississippi, 84; 16—Virginia, 66; 17—Kansas, 56; 18—UCLA, 39; 19—Columbia, 35; 30—Rice, 32.

NEW HAMPSHIRE WILLING TO PLAY IN GLASS BOWL

By The Associated Press

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 18—New Hampshire's undefeated Wildcats were "willing" to compete in Toledo's annual Glass Bowl football game Dec. 6.

Athletic Director Carl A. Lundholm said Glass Bowl officials had sounded out New Hampshire on the possibility of its accepting an invitation, and the university's board of trustees had authorized acceptance.

Lundholm said formal bids for the game would not be made until the Bowl committee reviewed next Saturday's results.

Magics Stay on Top for 4th Straight Week.

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—The Ohio high school grid spotlight settled on Dean Brubaker of Medina today—and then started searching for someone who has exceeded that fine halfback's scoring spree.

Brubaker counted six touchdowns and five extra points in the weekend's 65-0 victory over Akron Hower, boosting his season total to 182, and the home folk immediately claimed that's the best in the state.

And, until something is heard to the contrary, the Medina halfback gets the nod as the season's scoring ace.

On the team front Barberton's mighty Magics clung to the peak of the top 10, the Ohio sports writers keeping Harry Strobel's club as the No. 1 choice for the fourth straight week.

With only a few scattered games played, changes were few this week in the Big Ten. Most notable event was that Middletown, defeated 14-0 by Hamilton for its first loss of the season, skidded all the way out of the select group from last week's sixth place. Salem, suffering its first defeat, 7-0 at the hands of unbeaten Lisbon, merely dropped from seventh to eighth place while Toledo Libbey moved up to tenth.

Here's how the sports writers rated 'em:

Teams	Vote
Barberton	15
Elyria	12
Canton McKinley	9
Cleveland Cathedral Latin	9
Columbus West	7
Hamilton	7
Warren Harding	4
Salem	3
Upper Sandusky	2
Toledo Libbey	2

Others getting votes were: Middletown 18, Piqua 14, Steubenville 10, Fremont Ross and St. Clairsville 8; Hamilton Cathloic, Lisbon, Toledo Waite and Massillon 6, Cleveland Holy Name 4, Grandview 2.

Undefeated Lisbon, in winning its first game from Salem since 1934, and for only the seventh time in 36 tries since 1896, razzle-dazzled its way to the first seven points. A 65-yard pass play was the payoff, end Felix Rutecki tossing to Ray Davies for the counter after an end-around double-reverse manuever had pulled the Salem secondary close to the line.

250 ATTEND CAGE CLINIC

About 250 officials, coaches and basketball players attended the Marion county basketball clinic at Pleasant last night. Robert Harmon, Upper Sandusky official gave an interpretation of rules and the Ohio Wesleyan basketball team gave an hour-long demonstration.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — Mild price improvement ruled in today's stock market although many leaders continued to yield moderately.

Dealings tapered after a fairly active opening. Plus signs of fractions to around a point were in the majority near midday.

Numerous customers held aloof to await congressional action on the President's recommendations regarding inflation and European relief.

Ahead most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, United Aircraft (on a pleasing disbursement), Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Cerro de Pasco, Owens-Illinois, Nickel Plate railway, Santa Fe and N Y. Central. Occasional losers included Goodyear, Woolworth, J I Case, Phelps Dodge, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical and Pennsylvania railroad.

DELAWARE DAM

be disappointed. The main area directly behind the dam and comprising approximately 1,700 acres will form the largest single expanse of water.

On the whole, the reservoir from engineers' maps looks somewhat like an octopus with long tentacles probing northward from the main body of water at the dam. A northeast tentacle will shoot up Whetstone Creek to a point about two miles north of Ashley. A second arm just to the west, runs up Brandige Run to a point just north of Mayfield Corners. The third and main branch goes up the Olentangy channel extending to a point on the headwaters of the stream about a mile and a half south of Claridon. A fourth claw stretches out almost directly north through Norton and to a point a mile and a half north of Waldo, branching out northeast along Cauquaw run just east of Route 23. A smaller spur forks off at this point and roughly follows Route 98 northeastward while the large branch follows Route 23.

Six-Mile Long Lake

The lake formed by the dam will approximate six miles in length and in case of severe high water will mushroom out into a body of water nearly 16 miles in length.

The government will acquire some 7,000 acres of land and secure easement rights on another 3,000 acres. R. P. Witten, project manager is in the process of securing the first of the thousands of acres the government will need. The land is to be purchased by respective elevations, starting from the lowest and gradually working up to the 947 foot above sea level figure. This maximum is about 100 feet above the normal height of the river which is estimated at 879 feet.

Under the easement arrangement with the government, farmers and real estate owners will receive a fixed sum per year irrespective of whether or not their land is flooded. The return to the owner will be based on the location of the land and its productive value in terms of crops or for whatever purpose it may have been previously used.

Land Being Cleared

Clearing of the bottom lands behind the dam is getting underway at the present time. The contract for removing the trees and brush has been awarded the Wyoming Nurseries, Wyoming, Pa. Crews are now on the scene. The contract stipulates that the area be cleared in 120 days, which would bring the date of completion some time in March. Trees are to be cut to within four inches of the ground over the greater part of the reservoir area.

In addition to the scores of farms that will be abandoned, one of the major utility companies was forced to make a change in a branch line. The Ohio Fuel Gas company had a line running generally northwest-southeast across the main reservoir area. The line was detoured around the southern end of the dam.

Firms in charge of the construction work are the S. J. Groves & Sons Co., Johnson, Drake and Piper, Inc., and Bowen and McLaughlin. The earth-moving job is being handled by the J. C. O'Connor & Sons company.

Although not as large as O'Shaughnessy dam on the Scioto river northwest of Columbus, the Delaware dam will be one of the largest in the state. Already thousands of spectators have witnessed the stages of its construction and are anticipating formation of a new recreational spot in northern Delaware county.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I THREW up my right hand in a mirthful salute to Katharine which held more respect for her keenness, than mockery.

"You've called the turn, as always," I said. "After Mary conjectured that Georges thought she might have a romantic twinge at seeing him married to Olina, and that Noel and Olina, while sure of her immunity, were not so sure of the royal playboy's feelings, she didn't mention her lines again."

"And my bet still holds good," Katharine said. "She hasn't given a thought to them, and won't until she gets her plans for reducing Georges to size worked out of her sytem."

"But what do you think about her reactions afterward?" I asked anxiously. "Won't there be a letdown?"

"Possibly, but not probably," Katharine replied with decision. "However, we haven't a thing to say. If she were kept from this wedding, and stayed here with Noel, imagining all sorts of things about what the bride, the groom, and the wedding guests were thinking about the situation, she'd be flat on her back again. Any possible reaction she'd have to the excitement of the wedding and her campaign against Georges would be nothing in comparison."

"I don't think you'd have a thing to say in any case," Dicky said blandly. "According to the report my spouse has just given, Mary apears to have made her own decision. She's hell bent on attending this wedding, and Heaven help any poor kinsman, kinswoman, or well-intentioned friend who dares stand in her way."

Katharine and I nodded, like mandarins, I told myself mirthfully, in assent to Dicky's pronouncement, and then he stood up yawning.

"Is there anything else before the house which calls for my vote or veto?" he asked.

"Not a thing," I told him. "Go back and 'curl up with your good book'."

"I'll have something better than the book," he said with glee that was positively malignant. "I'll have visions of all the little perforations Georges is going to have in his royal hide by the time Mary gets through casting her poisoned darts at him. Good-night, ladies. I trust your dreams will be as pleasant as mine are going to be."

He bent and kissed me, and then went to the door.

"I'll be back anon and occupy my room next to Faith's," he said. "I don't trust either of you two baby-sitters to look after me cheeld."

"Get along with you," Katharine told him, "or I personally will see to it that you aren't in shape to look after anybody, including yourself."

He made her a sweeping bow, adjusted an imaginary monocle, and gave her a scathing look. Then he went out of the door, and Katharine and I gave ourselves up to comfortable laughter, which, I think, held a trace of sardonic reflections upon the moods of men.

Katharine gave voice to our thought a second later.

"Georges doesn't appear to be popular with our men folk, does he?" she asked.

"No, he doesn't," I answered, then added slowly: "And yet, he has many of the qualities that men admire. He is brave, resourceful, skillful, honorable in everything except his dealings with women, and he isn't vicious in those simply irresponsible."

Katharine looked at me scathingly.

"If I didn't know you so well," she said, "I should think that you had fallen for the royal play boy, yourself—"

"When you say that, smile," I quoted, and she laughed.

"Oh, I'm grinning," she said, "but honestly, Madge, sometimes I think you'd find excuses for the devil himself, if he were cavorting around here."

"Do you mean," I asked mildly, that you think Georges is a devil?"

"Of sorts," she repeated. "But we don't need to worry any more about him. Mary will attend to his case, and how. So let's lay him on the shelf for a while, and consider something else. You're going to the hideaway secretly tomorrow night with Georges?"

"Yes, I am," I replied, wondering what lay behind her question.

"What's on your mind for tomorrow?" she asked next.

"Not a thing," I said. "Father said I was to come back the next day, so I'm taking only an over night bag which I always keep packed. I haven't a thing to do except cue Mary."

"I don't think you'll have much of that to do," she said, "especially as I don't want her to get back into that routine for a day or two, until this first excitement about Georges has had time to sizzle a bit. But, there is a job that ought to be done, and I think it would better be done tomorrow. Then it will be out of the way."

"And that is?" I queried.

"Mary hasn't gone to see her grandmother at the hospital, yet," Katharine said, "and she ought to go before she departs for Sag Harbor and the wedding."

Largest propane storage plant in the world

but still not enough!

Propane is a type of liquid fuel made by oil refineries. When not under pressure, it becomes a gas. It is used by many families living beyond the gas mains.

At two points on our lines we have installed what comprises the largest volume of propane storage in the world to supplement your regular gas service. There are 110 tanks —each 71 feet long and 9 feet in diameter.

The equivalent of 65 million cubic feet of natural gas a day can be drawn from this storage. If used continuously, this supply would last but several days. That is why we reserve Propane as an emergency fuel, saving it for those hours of heaviest demand on extremely cold days.

Our construction program is moving along rapidly. As more material and manpower can be secured, larger quantities of gas will be brought into this area.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THE whole business of price and wage controls and rationing is now neck-deep in politics. I don't expect their return. The chance is very dim. But they probably will be one of the main issues in the 1948 elections of next November.

President Truman asked congress for power to use those controls again if, and when, he thinks they're needed to cope with living costs.

The Republican-controlled congress would have to pass a law to give that power to Mr. Truman. He probably will be the Democratic candidate for President next year.

But the two most powerful Republican leaders in congress have denounced the whole idea.

MARLOW

They're Senator Taft of Ohio, who wants to be the Republican candidate for president, and Joe Martin of Mass., speaker of the house.

Taft made a savage attack on the whole idea in a radio talk last night that it seems impossible he could ever change over.

For that reason, he was basing a lot of his political future on whether time would show he was right.

Since the summer of 1946, when OPA began to collapse under the battering of congress, living costs have risen 23 percent and still are rising.

(OPA, with its price controls and rationing, died in the fall of 1946.)

Mr. Truman said it would take months to start the controls working, because of the need to set up agencies, if congress gave him the power now.

SINCE HE THINKS that would take months—and since congress would argue for months before giving him the controls, if it ever did—it seems impossible there could be any controls anyway before next spring.

And this is where the politics come in:

Suppose the Republican-controlled congress refuses the President's request—as it seems sure to do—and living costs get out of hand.

In the 1948 political campaign Mr. Truman will be able to tell the voters:

"I asked congress for power to control living costs but the Republicans wouldn't give it to me. Blame the Republicans."

Then the Republicans will have to explain why they didn't let him have the controls. Mr. Truman doesn't stand to lose much by his request.

But Senator Taft made it clear last night that he's sharply aware of the political importance of all this.

HE SAID THAT, from a political standpoint, it might be better for congress to let Mr. Truman have the controls he asks because the public would 'get mad at 'the President.

But the senator said such controls in peacetime would mean a "police state" and he wants no part of it.

Would the power Mr. Truman asks mean a return of OPA or some agency like OPA under a new name?

Mr. Truman said he wanted to control only items which are at the heart of living costs, like food, clothing, fuel and rents.

(Rent controls end February 29, unless congress continues them. It probably will do that.)

So Mr. Truman argues this wouldn't mean controlling or rationing everything but only those main items if they get scarce or too high in price.

BUT SENATOR TAFT SAYS, in effect, that this is bunk, that wartime experience shows you have to control everything, if you control a few things.

It's possible, though, that congress may give Mr. Truman some other controls he asked, for example:

He asked for power to restore controls on credit buying. These died Nov. 1.

(These controls, started in wartime, generally required a one-third down-payment and full payment within 15 months on things like automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and so on).

And congress may give him power to allocate—that is, to say what goes where and for what purpose—important scarce goods like steel.

For example: a lot of steel now is going into beer cans. With power to allocate, Mr. Truman could order some of that steel used in making box-cars, which are badly needed.

Sauer & Ocker Store Ending Long Operation

Fred H. Sauer of Sauer & Ocker, is closing out his stock of groceries and will discontinue business at 117 North Main street Dec. 1. One of the oldest grocery stores and also one of the few remaining independent grocery stores in the down town district, Sauer & Ocker has been an established business in Marion more than 30 years.

The partnership was formed by Mr. Sauer and W. W. Ocker in March 1917 when they purchased the grocery business of R. T. Lewis & Co. and the business has continued in the same room since then. Mr. Ocker died in the early 1920's and the business has since been carried on under the firm name by Mr. and Mrs. Sauer.

Delivery business was discontinued and the store became a self-serve in 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. Sauer, who live at 699 East Church street, have no definite plans and for the present will divide their time between their home here and their cottage between Ashley and Marengo where they have spent considerable of their time in past seasons.

Mr. Sauer operated a restaurant 15 years before coming to Marion and Mr. Ocker had a recreation parlor at Chillicothe.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON

I'VE been to many a press conference in my day, but never to one like Maj. Gen. Bennie Meyers', where the news was so sizzling it couldn't be printed at all.

All morning the general chomped on an unlit cigar, while witnesses told how he organized an electric manufacturing company on the q.t., and then drummed up a million dollars worth of business for it while he was anair force procurement officer.

Gen. Meyers rubbed his closely-clipped, Groucho Marx mustache and smiled faintly when B. H. Lamarre told about earning $31,000 a year—officially — as president of the Aviation Electric Corp., but actually getting $50 a week. The rest of his salary, he said, went to the general.

OTHMAN

When the senate war investigating committee recessed the proceedings, the reporters converged upon Gen. Meyers.

"You want to know why I organized the company?" he repeated. "Well, I'll tell you . . ."

His attorney remonstrated.

"Hell," said the general. "My wife knows about it. I'm not ashamed of what I did. So this is what happened . . ."

His lawyer said at least he ought to speak off the record; that he should get a promise from the correspondents not to publish his statement.

"Let 'em print it if they want," the general said. "I've got nothing to hide."

THE COUNSEL SUBSIDED and Gen. Meyers launched into one of the wildest-eyed tales of women and big business, well-mixed, as these old ears ever have heard. The trouble was he mentioned names and if I were even to hint who he was talking about, or indicate what happened, I'd probably spend the rest of my days behind the bars on a libel conviction. Oh well.

Sen. Homer F. Ferguson of Michigan, the chairman, probably will spread on the record before he's through all the reasons, including the lovey-dovey, for the electric company. And I'd better stick, in the meantime, to the sworn testimony; it's enough in itself to take the curl out of a taxpayer's hair.

Gen. Meyers (and this is testimony of Lamarre under oath, mind you) put put $500 to organize his company; he gave the stock to dummies, and then he lent the firm $30,000 to get started. He soon was buying millions of dollars worth of airplanes for the government, so when the President of the Bell Aircraft Co. needed some fuse box assemblies for fighter planes, the general suggested that maybe the Aviation Electric Co. could make 'em.

"WE LANDED THE ORDER," testified the blond and wavy-haired Lamarre, the youthful bookkeeper, who found himself head—on paper at least—of the firm. He said the engineers made estimates of the cost of manufacturing fuse boxes and figured $11 each would be about right.

Gen. Meyers said that wasn't enough. The engineers conferred again and said each box was worth $27. This still didn't suit Gen. Meyers.

"What did you sell 'em for?" asked Sen. Ferguson.

"We got the contract on the basis of $44.55 for each box, Lamarre replied.

There you are, taxpayers. Eleven dollar widgets cost us four times that much, to the tune of $1,053,000. The general got back his $30,000 and, according to his man, Lamarre, a good deal more to boot.

Not so, retorted Gen. Meyers, and anyway what about a certain affair of the heart? But he was talking off the cuff and I don't want to go to jail, maybe. I can tell you about sex in the wartime electric business.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

New York

GOTHAM Gab:

If your wife misunderstands you, perhaps you might want to become a link in a new chainletter fad which holds out great possibilities for henpecked husbands.

The letter, now circulating in Manhattan, goes like this:

"Dear friend,

"This chain letter was started in the hope of bringing happiness-or at least a chance - to the Henpecked Husbands of America.

"It doesn't cost any money. You simply send a copy of this letter to five other husbands, then bundle up your wife and send her to the fellow at the top of the list.

BOYLE

"You will receive 17,178 women when your own name comes to the top of the list. Have faith—and don't break the magic chain. One man who broke it got his own wife back."

But the scheme is falling flat. Nobody seems to want to trade one nagging wife for 16,178 others with the same defect.

A YOUNG MAN employed by the U. S. state department wasn't worried by the government's loyalty check. His conscience was perfectly clear.

But a little bird upset him the other day. The bird was a fortune-telling parrot on Fifth avenue. The young man dropped a coin in the palm of the parrot's owner, and the parrot waddled over to a row of small folded papers bearing printed forecasts of the future. It picked one out with its beak.

The young man opened it and was startled to read:

"You have been betrayed by a person you never suspected."

BROADWAY SUCCESS STORY: Bars in the "tinsel forties" off times square kept a bowl of hard-boiled eggs handy for late-drinking customers.

The eggs in many of the bars are supplied by an alert pleasant-faced woman who first came here years ago as a stage-struck kid. She was pretty but no threat to Helen Hayes. She got a few small bit parts, took a turn at modeling, and then hit the skids. She became a party girl and wound up on the bottle.

"She was headed for the bottom fast," said a bartender, "when some guy came along and sold her on marriage and a chicken ranch over in Jersey. That straightened her out.

"Once a week she comes to town to sell her eggs and ask about old friends. Then she goes back to Jersey. I asked her once was she happy and she just laughed and said: 'Whoever made a profit out of laying an egg on Broadway? I do better selling 'em.'"

SPEAKING OF EGGS, the one best basket to put them all in here has been Manhattan real estate—at least in the past.

Back in 1818, when Times Square itself was a cattle pasture, Robert Lenox paid $500 for five acres way up around 71st and Fifth avenue. He feared he had been stung, paying so much for this country property.

But today the land is estimated to be worth $50,000,000 exactly 100,000 times what Lenox paid for it.

Lenox, unfortunately, died in 1839, or 108 years too soon.

Marital Counselling Clinic Arranged

Arrangements have been completed for a clinic on marital counselling for ministers of Marion and Marion county, with sessions set for Wednesday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. Dr. Floyd Faust, pastor of the Broad Street Church of Christ in Columbus, a specialist in the field, will be in charge. The clinic is sponsored jointly by the social action committee of the Marion County Council of Churches and the Marion County Ministerial association.

Dr. Faust and Mrs. Faust are well known in Columbus for their work in domestic counselling, and Dr. Faust has a daily radio counselling program called "Troubles Anonymous." He will direct two sessions here, one at 1 p. m. centering on the problem of premarital counselling, and another at 2:30 on marital conflict and adjustment counselling. The place will be the reading room of the Y, and the clinic will be open to any ministers interested, it was announced.

Springfield City Head Cuts Service Forces

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 18—Further curtailment in city services were promised today by City Manager Oscar R. Fleckner, who already has halted trash collections and "furloughed" almost half of the street and sewer department workers.

Fleckner began "putting the city on a sound financial basis" last week after voters defeated a two-mill emergency operating levy in the Nov. 4 election.

He announced last night that 45 of the 98 street and sewer department employes would be taken off the payroll at the end of the work day Tuesday, and the remaining employes cut from a 44 to a 40-hour week.

"When the city gets back on a sound financial basis, every employe furloughed will be reinstated," Fleckner added.

SCRAP IRON SCARCE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18—Scrap iron consumers and dealers have barely six weeks' supply for the nation's steel mills, President Philip W. Frieder of the Institute of Scrap, Iron and Steel, Inc., said today in launching a national drive for scrap iron. Frieder said the institute will concentrate the drive primarily on automobile graveyards. He said 1,000,000 cars now in junkyards could be scrapped.

Harding and St. Mary Cagers Prepare for Season Openers

Prexies Open with Strong Bexley Dec. 5.

With but two weeks of practice before the opening basketball game with Bexley Dec. 5, the Harding cagers started to work last night to whip up a team that Coach Kenny Somerlot hopes can better last season's record of four wins and 12 losses.

Only one regular varsity man returned to the squad this year—Dick Riddle, a forward. Four other lettermen returned, including Jim Coss, center, Jim Rae, guard, Bob Short, forward and Jim Hill, guard.

Thirteen of last year's reserves will contend for varsity positions this season. They are: forwards, Dick Gherman, Dick Clark, Al Estes, Tom Taylor, and Dick Latimore centers, Roger Andrews, and Eddy Roseberry, and guards, Dick Thomas, Jack Bishop, Ronald Amey, Dick Rosebetry, Ray Philhans, and Don Johnson, who won't be eligible until the next semester.

Bob Ralston, a senior, hasn't been out for basketball the last year or two, but tried for the squad this year.

Juniors contending for berths on the varsity or reserve squads are: Fred Chowder, Tom Ballinger, Bill Buckingham, Clarence Smith, Calvin Roest, and Leroy Lumpkin.

About 28 boys reported to Coach George Keel for positions on the sophomore squad. Outstanding among them are Fred VanSickle, and Merle Daum. The sophomores will have a 12-game schedule with the junior high teams and Harding and St. Mary reserves. The schedule hasn't yet been filled out.

Coach Somerlot hopes to carry 14 or 15 men in the varsity squad for several weeks, before cutting. Those cut will move to Coach Pete Howison's reserves, and men cut from the reserves will turn up with Coach Keel if they are sophomores.

The varsity and reserve teams practice in Edison gym, one week in the afternoon, and the next in the evening. Sophomores will practice every night in the Harding gym.

Somerlot is not optimistic about the season prospects for the varsity, but said the reserves look good. Last year they won 9 and lost 6.

Somerlot said his basic defense will be man-for-man, but that he'll drill his boys on zone and combination defenses. This week they'll work on offense.

Complete Harding schedule follows:

Dec. 5—Bexley.
Dec. 12—Delaware.
Dec. 26—Columbus West.
Jan. 2—Fostoria.
Jan. 6—at Bucyrus.
Jan. 9—Lima South.
Jan. 16—at Tiffin.
Jan. 17—Columbus North.
Jan. 23—at Ashland.
Jan. 30—at Columbus West.
Feb. 3—at Delaware.
Feb. 6—Galion.
Feb. 13—Ashland.
Feb. 17—Bucyrus.
Feb. 20—at Columbus Central.
Feb 27—at Bellevue.

Six Lettermen Return To Bolster Irish Squad.

The St. Mary basketball team, flush with the return of six lettermen from last year's squad, are preparing for their season opener in just two weeks with Luna St. Gerard.

Dick Schuler, Bob Stuber, Dick Drake, Jim Moloney, Dan Smith, and John Baldauf, are the lettermen Coach Gene Fetter hopes will improve on last year's high .760 per cent of games won.

Schuler, a forward, last year set a high school scoring record with 309 points and was named on the All-Mid-State team.

Bub Stuber received honorable mention on the league team as guard, and was picked on the All-District team at Westerville.

Dick Drake, a center, won All-Mid-State honorable mention, and honorable mention on the Associated Press All-Ohio team.

Coach Fetter, who guided the Irish to a league championship in football this season, believes that his cagers' outstanding weakness is lack of reserve strength. The basketball Irish are also hampered by sparce practice sessions—they don't have a gym at St. Mary and have to use the Y.M.C.A. gym when available.

Coach Fetter is working on a new offense this year, and will use both man-for-man and zone defense.

He led the Irish to a season record of 19 wins against but five losses last season, winning four in the district tournament at Westerville and losing to Columbus Rosary, 38-35, in an overtime. The Irish received the runner-up trophy in the tournament.

Fetter has a habit of turning out winning teams. While in the service, he coached the Thomasville, Ga., Army Air Base basketball team to runner-up spot in the service cage tournament held in Tampa, Fla., in 1945. Later he went to the Pacific area to help set up the 1946 Pacific Army Olympic games in Honolulu, Manila, and Tokyo.

The Irish are strong contenders for the Mid-State league championship in basketball. Their first league game is Dec. 12 with Richwood, but they have three warm-up games before that.

The tentative schedule follows:
(X)—Mid State league games
Dec. 2—Lima St. Gerard
Dec. 6—at Columbus Holy Family
Dec. 9—Bucyrus.
Dec 12—Richwood (X).
Dec. 16—Ashley.
Dec. 20—at Columbus Holy Family.
Dec. 23—Columbus Rosary.
Dec. 30—Alumni.
Jan. 2—at Marysville (X).
Jan. 6—Carey (X).
Jan. 8—Mt. Gilead (X).
Jan. 13—Harpster.
Jan. 16—Columbus Holy Family.
Jan. 20—at Carey (X).
Jan. 23—at Richwood (X).
Jan. 27—Morral.
Jan. 30—Columbus St. Mary.
Feb. 3—Pleasant.
Feb. 10—at Sunbury.
Feb. 13—at Mt. Gilead (X).
Feb. 20—Tiffin Calvert.
Feb. 27—Marysville (X).

Bootin' Beauty—That's Automatic Aggy

Toeless Place-Kicker Didn't Miss a Conversion in 115 Attempts.

By BILL BECKER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES—When toeless Ben Agajanian missed a conversion attempt this month against the San Francisco 49ers, it was the first extra point try the Los Angeles Dons' bootin' beauty had missed in "somewhere over 115" attempts.

The flub ended a never-miss string that extended over four seasons of tough professional play.

But in the same game the Armenian from Anaheim, Calif., who is minus four toes on his kicking foot, booted a 50-yard field goal, the longest ever seen in Memorial Collseum here.

Boots 53 Yards

Two weeks earlier in Baltimore he set an All-America Conference record with a 53-yard placement. It was only one yard short of Glenn Presnell's all-time pro mark.

Automatic Aggy accounted for 31 straight conversions before his miss and seven field goals in the Don's first ten games. His point total of 52 was one behind that of his leading rival, Lou (The Toe) Groza of Cleveland. Groza had 32 extra points (missing three) and seven field goals.

The accident that cost Agajanian his toes happened in March, 1941, when he was a junior and already recognized as a good place-kicker and lineman at New Mexico university.

Loses Toes

He was riding in a freight elevator when the toes of his right foot were caught between the moving car floor and a protruding ledge. All but the little toe were shorn off.

His coach, Ted Shipkey—now assistant coach of the Dons and a big reason why Aggy is with the club—made him stay with football. The gritty player spent all summer toughening the foot in brine solution. Skipkey got him a special square-toed shoe, size seven; he wears a ten on the left foot.

That fall Agajanian made every conversion and booted six field goals for New Mexico.

Starting his pro cateer in 1942, Ben missed one extra point try with the Hollywood Bears, and failed once the next year with the San Diego Bombers. From then on, he says, he made every conversion attempt until his recent miss. The string extended through service with Hollywood, 1944; Philadelphia Eagles and Pittsburgh Steels, 1945, and Hollywood, 1946.

No figures are available on the exact number of consecutive conversions, but Aggy places it at over 115.

The 210-pound, six-foot, two-inch specialist claims the toeless foot is an asset in his work.

"It's like a hammer," he says. "With the square striking surface I can hit 'em harder and straighter."

Unlike Groza, Agajanian uses no tape to line up his kicks. He takes two quick steps and whams away, not bothering to keep his head down like most placement experts.

He does nothing but kick for the Dons—that's all his contract calls for. Everybody's happy with the result.

TOELESS BEN AGAJANIAN of the Los Angeles Dons boots a practice placement with Charley O'Rourke holding. Agajanian lost the toes on his kicking foot in elevator accident.

BOSOX FANS SEE NO PENNANT IN DEAL

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 18—Let down hard so many times by six-figure deals, not even the most rabid of the Red Sox rooters hailed the seven-two trade with the St. Louis Browns for Vernon (Junior) Stephens and Jack Kramer as anything slightly resembling a harbinger of the 1948 American League pennant.

But even the most lukewarm agreed yesterday's acquisition of the dashing Stephens would do much to boost Ted Williams back into the .400 batting stratosphere.

"Williams never again will draw 161 bases on balls. They'll have to pitch to him with Stephens coming up next," was the consensus of the fans on the street. While drawing his 161 free rides to first base last season, Ted was limited to a .343 average, only one point more than his 1946 batting mark.

Jack Kramer's addition to the Red Sox pitching staff is bound to be helpful but, the experts agree, even Joe McCarthy needs four dependable starters to return Tom Yawkey's sockers to the championship fold.

Chances are at least 50-50 that the Browns got one or more stars in the making when general manager Joe Cronin turned over infielder Eddie Pellagrini, catcher Roy Partee and such promising Louisville farmhands as pitcher Jim Wilson and Al Widmar and outfielder Pete Layden while promising two more unnamed players for future delivery.

DI MAGGIO RESTING UP AFTER ELBOW OPERATION

By The United Press

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 17 — Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees rested at famed Johns Hopkins hospital today after a bone chip was removed from his elbow.

Di Maggio underwent an operation performed yesterday by Dr. George Bennett, who said that the noted outfield slugger will be released from the hospital in a week.

NEW YORK D.A. SCANS FOX-LAMOTTA FIGHT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — The New York county grand jury, under the direction of the district attorney's office, for the second time within a year, stepped in to investigate the city's boxing situation today.

The inquiry will be into last Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight in which Billy Fox of Philadelphia was awarded a TKO over Jake Lamotta of New York in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Col. Eddie Eagon, chairman of the State Athletic (Boxing) Commission, proclaimed that he had ordered Sol Strauss, promoter of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, to withhold the purses of Fox and Lamotta pending an independent investigation by the commission. They were to have been paid $23,910.22 each from the gross receipts of the $102,538 from 18,340 fans.

Specifically the two separate investigations are the result of adverse newspaper criticism.

Eagan, who immediately after the fight said he thought both fighters gave sincere efforts, issued a statement saying "at present there is no local evidence that the contest was not honestly fought by both boxers to the best of their ability. The commission will investigate the circumstances and make its determination after such an investigation."

3 Appointments Made To O.S.U. Athletic Board

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — Ohio State President Howard Bevis today described as "just a normal change" the appointment of three new faculty members to the university's athletic board.

Bevis himself was among those leaving the board. The others are James R. Hopkins, board chairman until his retirement from the university last June, and the school's Western Conference faculty representative, Professor James E. Pollard.

Vice President Bland L. Stradley and Professors Wendell Postle and Frank R. Strong are the new appointees. They join four others from the faculty on the 12-member board, which holds its monthly meeting tomorrow.

SCOUT GIVES BUCKS NO ENCOURAGEMENT

Wolves Have "Eye-Blinding Speed," Says Sarkkinen.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—Esco Sarkkinen, who scouted Michigan's football powerhouse for Ohio State, today had little encouragement for the Buckeyes as they stepped up drills for Saturday's date with the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines at Ann Arbor.

In fact, Sarkkinen sounded almost like Michigan's best booster as he detailed the "why's" of its perfect record in eight starts.

Sarkkinen outlined Coach Fritz Crisler's system of different offensive and defensive units. Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, the left half, remains in on both phases of play, but Crisler shifts his other men when the ball changes hands.

"They have eye-blinding speed on offense, and are hard, crisp blockers," Sarkkinen reported.

"On defense, the men are bigger and much more rugged, and Crisler uses four, five, six, seven and eight man lines to disorganize the offensive blocking," he said.

"Bump" Most Dangerous

Bob Chappius, the back who engineered the Ohio State rout last fall, is the most versatile, the Ohio scout continued, but Elliott, who has scored 48 points, "is the most dangerous runner."

Quarterback Howard Yerges, a member of Ohio State's 1943 squad, "is like a surgeon with a scalpel, and the same as a second coach." Fullback Jack Weisenburger, the other defensive back, he called a "brilliant performer" in spinner plays.

Two Ohio prep players, Dick Kempthorn and Gene Derricotte, and Wally Teninga take over the defensive backfield assignments.

Sarkkinen also was lavish in his praise of the Michigan line.

"To show the speed of the tackles, Capt. Bruce Hilkene, who operates on the left side, is a converted end," Sarkkinen said "and George Johnson, an end from Upper Arlington High school, shares the other defensive spot with 29-year-old Al Wistert."

Another former Ohio State player, J. T. White, handles offensive center.

Bucks Drill

Buckeye Coach Wes Fesler sent his team through an hour and a half drill yesterday, with the emphasis on offensive signals and defensive assignments.

Left Half Rod Swinehart and Right Half Bob Demmel, who both began playing regularly after other backfield performers were forced out or slowed by injuries, missed the drill because of leg bruises received in the Illinois game last week.

"Fat Pat, Get Slim" Says Big Chief Injin

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18—Husky Pat Seerey, Cleveland Indians outfielder who sat on the bench most of last season, was under orders today to report for spring training next year at 195 pounds—or else.

Tribe President Bill Veeck disclosed he advised Seerey in a showdown conference two weeks ago to consult a dietician at Cleveland Clinic hospital and to prepare for a conditioning siege in California.

Following instructions, the heavy-set outfielder has shaved his weight from 225 to 214 and will leave his home here tomorrow for California.

"I don't want to give up on Pat," Veeck said. "I think that as long as he can stay in condition he can be a great ball player. * * * But he know's it's next season or never."

Wolves Replace Irish as Top Team in Nation.

Magics Stay on Top for 4th Straight Week.

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — Prestige gained by a 40-6 romp over a highly-rated Wisconsin team sent the Michigan Wolverines to the top of the pile today in the weekly Associated Press coast-to-coast poll of 246 football writers.

Despite Notre Dame's 26-19 victory over Northwestern, the Fighting Irish dropped to second place.

Michigan drew 140 first place votes and Notre Dame 87 as a record number of newsmen participated in the balloting.

Although Southern Methodist had to go hard to beat Arkansas, 14-6, the Mustangs advanced when Penn dropped from third to sixth after its 7-7 tie with Army, marring its perfect record. Idle Southern California, which faces UCLA in the big Pacific Coast conference title game Saturday, also moved up a peg to fourth in the standings.

Penn State, impressive in its 20-7 decision over Army, advanced from eighth to fifth.

Seventh place went to Texas, a 20-0 victor over Texas Christian, and Alabama's Crimson Tide surged all the way from 14th to eighth by knocking off previously-unbeaten and untied Georgia Tech. The Tech club tumbled from sixth to tenth on the loss.

The total vote with points figured on a 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis—(first place votes in parentheses):

1	Michigan (140)	2341
2	Notre Dame (87)	2261
3	Southern Methodist (9)	1801
4	Southern California (3)	1522
5	Penn State (6)	1371
6	Pennsylvania	1099
7	Texas	953
8	Alabama	477
9	California	308
10	Georgia Tech	302

11—Army, 277; 12—Illinois, 195; 13—North Carolina (1), 109; 14—William and Mary, 99; 15—Mississippi, 84; 16—Virginia, 66; 17—Kansas, 56; 18—UCLA, 39; 19—Columbia, 35; 30—Rice, 32.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—The Ohio high school grid spotlight settled on Dean Brubaker of Medina today—and then started searching for someone who might exceeded that fine halfback's scoring spree.

Brubaker counted six touchdowns and five extra points in the weekend's 65-0 victory over Akron Hower, boosting his season's total to 182, and the nome folks immediately claimed that's the best in the state.

And, until something is heard to the contrary, the Medina halfback gets the nod as the season's scoring ace.

On the team front Barberton's mighty Magics clung to the head of the top 10, the Ohio sports writers keeping Harry Stroble's club as the No. 1 choice for the fourth straight week.

With only a few scattered games played, changes were few this week in the Big Ten. Most notable event was that Middletown, defeated 14-0 by Hamilton for its first loss of the season, skidded all the way out of the select group from last week's sixth place. Salem, suffering its first defeat, 7-0 at the hands of unbeaten Lisbon, merely dropped from seventh to eighth place, while Toledo Libbey moved up to tenth.

Here's how the sports writers rated 'em:

Teams	Votes
Barberton	154
Elyria	120
Canton McKinley	98
Cleveland Cathedral Latin	95
Columbus West	74
Hamilton	70
Warren Harding	46
Salem	30
Upper Sandusky	26
Toledo Libbey	22

Others getting votes were: Middletown 18, Piqua 14, Steubenville 10, Fremont Ross and St. Clairsville 8; Hamilton Cathloic, Lisbon, Toledo Waite and Massillon 6; Cleveland Holy Name 4, Grandview 2.

Undebeated Lisbon, in winning its first game from Salem since 1934, and for only the seventh time in 36 tries since 1896, razzle-dazzled its way to the first seven points. A 65-yard pass play was the payoff, end Felix Rutecki tossing to Ray Davies for the counter after an end-around double-reverse manuever had pulled the Salem secondary close to the line.

NEW HAMPSHIRE WILLING TO PLAY IN GLASS BOWL

By The Associated Press

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 18—New Hampshire's undefeated Wildcats were "willing" to compete in Toledo's annual Glass Bowl football game Dec. 6.

Athletic Director Carl A. Lundholm said Glass Bowl officials had sounded out New Hampshire on the possibility of its accepting an invitation, and the university's board of trustees had authorized acceptance.

Lundholm said formal bids for the game would not be made until the Bowl committee reviewed next Saturday's results.

DELAWARE DAM

be disappointed. The main area directly behind the dam and comprising approximately 1,700 acres will form the largest single expanse of water.

On the whole, the reservoir from engineers' maps looks somewhat like an octopus with long tentacles probing northward from the main body of water at the dam. A northeast tentacle will shoot up Whetstone Creek to a point about two miles north of Ashley. A second arm just to the west, runs up Brandige Run to a point just north of Mayfield Corners. The third and main branch goes up the Olentangy channel extending to a point on the headwaters of the stream about a mile and a half south of Claridon. A fourth claw stretches out almost directly north through Norton and to a point a mile and a half north of Waldo, branching out northeast along Cauquaw run just east of Route 23. A smaller spur forks off at this point and roughly follows Route 98 northeastward while the large branch follows Route 23.

Six-Mile Long Lake

The lake formed by the dam will approximate six miles in length and in case of severe high water will mushroom out into a body of water nearly 16 miles in length.

The government will acquire some 7,000 acres of land and secure easement rights on another 3,000 acres. R. P. Witten, project manager is in the process of securing the first of the thousands of acres the government will need. The land is to be purchased by respective elevations, starting from the lowest and gradually working up to the 947 foot above sea level figure. This maximum is about 100 feet above the normal height of the river which is estimated at 879 feet.

Under the easement arrangement with the government, farmers and real estate owners will receive a fixed sum per year irrespective of whether or not their land is flooded. The return to the owner will be based on the location of the land and its productive value in terms of crops or for whatever purpose it may have been previously used.

Land Being Cleared

Clearing of the bottom lands behind the dam is getting underway at the present time. The contract for removing the trees and brush has been awarded the Wyoming Nurseries, Wyoming, Pa. Crews are now on the scene. The contract stipulates that the area be cleared in 120 days, which would bring the date of completion some time in March. Trees are to be cut to within four inches of the ground over the greater part of the reservoir area.

In addition to the scores of farms that will be abandoned, one of the major utility companies was forced to make a change in a branch line. The Ohio Fuel Gas company had a line running generally northwest-southeast across the main reservoir area. The line was detoured around the southern end of the dam.

Firms in charge of the construction work are the S. J. Groves & Sons Co., Johnson, Drake and Piper, Inc., and Bowen and McLaughlin. The earth-moving job is being handled by the J. C. O'Connor & Sons company.

Although not as large as O'Shaughnessy dam on the Scioto river northwest of Columbus, the Delaware dam will be one of the largest in the state. Already thousands of spectators have witnessed the stages of its construction and are anticipating formation of a new recreational spot in northern Delaware county.
